

REAR BRAKES, ALL MODELS

All (classic) Minis to date have rear drum brakes with 1.25"-wide shoes. At various intervals throughout manufacture, the rear cylinder size has been changed. Identification can be made on some units by a number that is stamped onto the face next to the bore. This number, if present, is sixteenths of an inch bore diameter. If there is no number, the only recourse is to measure the bore manually. If you are unsure, and are replacing both, use the version most appropriate to the master cylinder/front brake combination in your vehicle.

TECH TIP: When fitting drum brake shoes, fit them so that the friction material is trailing the direction of rotation, the larger space leading the material. This follows for all brake shoes fitted to the Mini.
