

Its history begins with the events of 5 November 1605, when Guy Fawkes, a member of the Gunpowder Plot, was arrested while guarding explosives the plotters had placed beneath the House of Lords. Celebrating the fact that King James I had survived the attempt on his life, people lit bonfires around London, and months later the introduction of the Observance of 5th November Act enforced an annual public day of thanksgiving for the plot's failure.

Broken Altars Thomas

Albert Howard,2025-03-25 A sweeping history of the violence perpetrated by governments committed to extreme forms of secularism in the twentieth century A popular truism derived from the Enlightenment holds that violence is somehow inherent to religion to which political secularism offers a liberating solution But this assumption ignores a glaring modern reality that putatively progressive regimes committed to secularism have possessed just as much and often a vastly greater capacity for violence as those tied to a religious identity In Broken Altars Thomas Albert Howard presents a powerful account of the misery deaths and destruction visited on religious communities by secularist regimes in the twentieth century Presenting three principal forms of modern secularism that have arisen since the Enlightenment passive secularism combative secularism and eliminationist secularism Howard argues that the latter two have been especially violence prone Westerners do not fully grasp this however because they often mistake the first form passive secularism for secularism as a whole But a disconcertingly more complicated picture emerges with the adoption of a broader global vision Admitting different species of secularism greater historical perspective and case studies drawn from the former Soviet Union Turkey Mexico Spain Czechoslovakia Albania Mongolia and China among other countries Howard calls into question the conventional tale of modernity as the pacifying triumph of secularism over a benighted religious past

The Emergence of Global Maoism Matthew Galway,2022-03-15 The Emergence of Global Maoism examines the spread of Mao Zedong's writings ideology and institutions when they traveled outside of China Matthew Galway links Chinese Communist Party efforts to globalize Maoism to the dialectical engagement of exported Maoism by Cambodian Maoist intellectuals How do ideas manifest outside of their place of origin Galway analyzes how universal ideological systems became localized both in Mao's indigenization of Marxism Leninism and in the Communist Party of Kampuchea's indigenization of Maoism into its own revolutionary ideology By examining the intellectual journeys of CPK leaders who during their studies in Paris in the 1950s became progressive activist intellectuals and full fledged Communists he shows that they responded to political and socioeconomic crises by speaking back to Maoism adapting it through practice without abandoning its universality Among Mao's greatest achievements the Sinification of Marxism enabled the CCP to canonize Mao's thought and export it to a progressive audience of international intellectuals These intellectuals would come to embrace the ideology as they set a course for social change The Emergence of Global Maoism illuminates the process through which China moved its goal from class revolution to a larger anticolonial project that sought to cast out European and American imperialism from Asia
