Flip the Funnel Joseph Jaffe, 2010-01-26 Why customer retention is the new acquisition If there's anything the recession of 2009 taught us it was the importance of investing in our customers but when was this any different So says

Joseph Jaffe bestselling author of Life After the 30 Second Spot and Join the Conversation and a leading expert and thought leader on new media and social media In most businesses it costs roughly five to ten times more to acquire a new customer than it does to retain an existing one and yet companies continue to disproportionately spend their budgets into the wrong end of the funnel the mass media or awareness side What we haven't paid enough attention to is the right end of the funnel the word of mouth component that essentially acts as a multiplier for future business The economic impact of an active engaged and loyal customer is tremendous And the same is true of the opposite scenario namely the impact of angry customers and negative word of mouth or referrals It is this thinking that Jaffe has channeled to challenge marketers to flip the funnel once and for all With a renewed focus and energy on customer experience it is possible to grow your sales while decreasing your budget in other words getting more from less Engaging a few customers to spread the word to many Using this new flipped funnel model together with a set of new rules of customer service and a revolutionary customer referral and activation process you'll learn how to transform your existing customers into your best salespeople In addition Jaffe will explain how to best introduce and combine both digital and social media tools to boost your loyalty arsenal deploy influencer marketing and implement word of mouth strategies that inspire your loyal opinionated and most vocal customers to become credible persuasive and influential endorsers of your products and services Explains how to cut your marketing budget AND grow sales Illustrates practical ways to use existing customers to reach out to new prospects Outlines the authentic role of social media Demonstrates key ideas with rich real life examples including Comcast Apple The Obama Campaign Dell Panasonic American Airlines Delta Airlines Johnson renowned blogger and podcaster at Jaffe Juice www.jaffejuice.com and host presenter of web video show JaffeJuiceTV www.jaffejuice.tv Visit www.flipthefunnelnow.com to join the conversation

The Consumer Response to Gasoline Price Changes Kenneth Thomas Gillingham, 2011 When gasoline prices rise people notice the news is filled with reports of pinched household budgets and politicians feeling pressure to do something to ameliorate the burden Yet raising the gasoline tax to internalize externalities is widely considered by economists to be among the most economic efficiency improving policies we could implement in the transportation sector This dissertation brings new evidence to bear on quantifying the responsiveness to changing gasoline prices both on the intensive margin i.e. how much to drive and the extensive margin i.e. what vehicles to buy I assemble a unique and extremely rich vehicle level dataset that includes all new vehicle registrations in California 2001 to 2009 and all of the mandatory smog check program odometer readings for 2002 to 2009 The full dataset exceeds 49 million observations Using this dataset I quantify the responsiveness to gasoline price changes on both margins as well as the heterogeneity in the responsiveness I develop a novel structural model of vehicle choice and subsequent utilization where consumer decisions are modeled in a dynamic setting that explicitly accounts for selection on unobserved driving preference at both the time of purchase and the time of driving This utility consistent model allows for the analysis of the welfare implications to consumers and government of a variety of different

policies including gasoline taxes and feebates I find that consumers are responsive to changing gasoline prices in both vehicle choice and driving decisions with more responsiveness than in many recent studies in the literature I estimate a medium run i.e. roughly two year elasticity of fuel economy with respect to the price of gasoline for new vehicles around 0.1 for California a response that varies by whether the vehicle manufacturer faces a tightly binding fuel economy standard I estimate a medium run elasticity of driving with respect to the price of gasoline around 0.15 for new personal vehicles in the first six years Older vehicles are driven much less but tend to be more responsive with an elasticity of roughly 0.3 I find that the vehicle level responsiveness in driving to gasoline price changes varies by vehicle class income geographic and demographic groups I also find that not including controls for economic conditions and not accounting for selection into different types of new vehicles based on unobserved driving preference tend to bias the elasticity of driving away from zero implying a greater responsiveness than the true responsiveness This is an important methodological point for much of the literature estimating similar elasticities ignores these two issues These results have significant policy implications for policies to reduce gasoline consumption and greenhouse gas emissions from transportation The relatively inelastic estimated responsiveness on both margins suggests that a gasoline tax policy may not lead to dramatic reductions in carbon dioxide emissions but is a relatively non distortionary policy instrument to raise revenue When the externalities of driving are considered an increased gasoline tax may not only be relatively non distortionary but even economic efficiency improving However I find that the welfare changes from an increased gasoline tax vary significantly across counties in California an important consideration for the political feasibility of the policy Finally I find suggestive evidence that the rebound effect of a policy that works only on the extensive margin such as a feebate or CAFE standards may be closer to zero than the elasticity of driving with respect to the price of gasoline This suggestive finding is particularly important for the analysis of the welfare effects of any policy that focuses entirely on the extensive margin

Corporate Criminal Liability in Environmental Jurisprudence Indrajit Dube, Mia Mahmudur Rahim, 2025-09-08 Environmental jurisprudence is a dynamic field that integrates insights from various disciplines including basic sciences earth science economics and law At its core this discipline emphasizes the importance of enforcing rights as environmental pollution poses significant threats to individuals and society as a whole The repercussions of pollution are not confined to the immediate vicinity they can reverberate across vast regions and impact countless future generations Addressing pollution as a wrong or crime demands a nuanced understanding of the law making the study of environmental jurisprudence essential This book explores corporate polluter liability within the framework of environmental jurisprudence While protective measures for the environment have been embedded in various statutes since the early 20th century the notion of environmental jurisprudence has only recently come to the forefront of legal discourse This field is crucial for safeguarding the natural and legal rights of individuals communities and the state With a comprehensive approach that encompasses both national and international dimensions this book critically engages with the foundational concepts of environmental jurisprudence exposing the rampant environmental violations perpetrated by corporations and outlining how these entities can be held accountable within regulatory frameworks Furthermore it provides a thorough analysis of essential international instruments aimed at combatting corporate induced environmental degradation offering recommendations to elevate corporate criminal liability within the realm of environmental jurisprudence scholarship Highlighting the urgent need for accountability but also inspiring action toward a sustainable future this book will interest legal scholars researching on criminal liability and environmental law
