

Troubleshooting your TBI Fuel Injection System

Most of the problems encountered while installing your fuel injection system or after a time of operation are very simple. If your check engine light is on you more than likely have a hard fault meaning something is grounded out, unplugged, operating out of range or has gone bad. See below for how to determine what your fault may be and what the codes mean.

With the addition of Fuel Injection to your engine it is important to remember that the basics are still there, necessary and have not changed. Batteries must be fully charged, charging systems fully operational, the ignition system is fully operational and the integrity of the engine is intact. All of these items are common to an engine and need to be in full operational condition regardless of the fuel system that has been added to your engine.

The ALDL connector allows for full diagnostics of your unit. A scan tool can be used and set up for a GM TBI application to read the data, or to check for stored codes. Consult a service manual or see below for any check engine light code definitions. You can use a late 80's or early 90's GM TBI definition. If you have access to a scan tool use a hook up for a 1990 350 cu. in. 5.7L Chevrolet truck. For some scan tools enter VIN 10th "L" 3rd "C" 8th "K".

If you have installed a Fuel Injection system in your vehicle and are having some initial issues here is a quick checklist to work from to get you started.

Pink Ignition wire MUST be connected to 12 volt switched ignition that receives power during crank and key on.

1. Check to make sure your check engine light is not on, or that it is on with the key on but the engine is not running.
2. Make sure that the red battery wire is connected to a battery source (It is highly recommended that this wire is connected directly to the battery) and the pink wire is connected to an ignition 1 source. If your ignition wire is not connected to an ignition 1 source your ECM will not be powered while cranking the engine.
3. Check that the ground wire is securely fastened to the block and that the interface between the block and the terminal are clean.
4. Ensure that there are NO vacuum leaks.
5. Ensure that your MAP sensor is connected to a full manifold vacuum source and not a ported source.
6. Set the ignition timing correctly making sure that you disconnect the set timing connector to set it. In some cases you cannot set the timing with the connector disconnected and keep the engine running. If this happens set timing to 15 degrees, allow the engine to fully warm up, then disconnect the set timing connector to set the base timing to the correct specification.
7. Ensure that you have full manifold vacuum routed to your fuel pressure regulator (if equipped on MPFI systems) and there are no vacuum leaks with this connection.
8. Check your fuel pressure to ensure that you are providing the proper pressure to the system.

Fuel Pressure is critical for proper operation. Fuel tank must be free from debris and fuel pressure needs to be constant and consistent.

Some aftermarket high density fuel filters can cause a large drop in fuel pressure under load and are not recommended for use with your system. If you are using one of these types of filters insure that you have proper fuel pressure during all modes of operation.

99% of all issues are usually taken care of with one or more of these 8 steps of diagnosis.
