Hyperbolic Dynamics, Fluctuations and Large Deviations D. Dolgopyat, Y. Pesin, M. Pollicott, L.

Stoyanov, 2015-04-01 This volume contains the proceedings of the semester long special program on Hyperbolic Dynamics Large Deviations and Fluctuations which was held from January to June 2013 at the Centre Interfacultaire Bernoulli of the Polytechnique Fédérale de Lausanne Switzerland. The broad theme of the program was the long term behavior of dynamical systems and their statistical behavior. During the last 50 years the statistical properties of dynamical systems of many different types have been the subject of extensive study in statistical mechanics and thermodynamics, ergodic and probability theories and some areas of mathematical physics. The results of this study have had a profound effect on many different areas in mathematics, physics, engineering and biology. The papers in this volume cover topics in large deviations and thermodynamics, formalism and limit theorems for dynamic systems. The material presented is primarily directed at researchers and graduate students in the very broad area of dynamical systems and ergodic theory but will also be of interest to researchers in related areas such as statistical physics, spectral theory and some aspects of number theory and geometry.

Reframing Economics Roger A. McCain, 2014-03-28 The objectives of this book are twofold. Firstly, it proposes that economics should be defined as a study of imperfect cooperation. Secondly, it elucidates the continuities that extend from classical political economy through the neoclassical Keynesianism.

Identity in a Secular Age Fern E. Elsdon-Baker, Bernard

Lightman, 2020-09-15 Although historians have suggested for some time that we move away from the assumption of a necessary clash between science and religion, the conflict narrative persists in contemporary discourse. But why? And how do we really know what people actually think about evolutionary science, let alone the many and varied ways in which it might relate to individual belief? In this multidisciplinary volume, experts in history and philosophy of science, oral history, sociology of religion, social psychology and science communication and public engagement look beyond two warring systems of thought. They consider a far more complex, multifaceted and distinctly more interesting picture of how differing groups along a spectrum of worldviews including atheistic agnostic and faith groups relate to and form the ongoing narrative of a necessary clash between evolution and faith By ascribing agency to the public from the nineteenth century to the present and across Canada and the United Kingdom this volume offers a much more nuanced analysis of people s perceptions about the relationship between evolutionary science religion and personal belief one that better elucidates the complexities not only of that relationship but of actual lived experience
