The Evolving Military Balance in the Korean Peninsula and Northeast Asia Anthony H. Cordesman, Ashley Hess, 2013-07-10 The Evolving Military Balance in the Korean Peninsula and Northeast Asia describes the strategy force deployments and the military balance in potential current and future scenarios involving the Democratic People's Republic of Korea Republic of Korea People's Republic of China Japan and the United States The analysis in these volumes shows how tensions between the Koreans and the potential involvement of the China Japan Russia and the United States create a nearly open ended spectrum of possible conflicts These range from posturing and threats wars of intimidation to a major conventional conflict on the Korean Peninsula to intervention by outside powers like the United States and China to the extreme of nuclear conflict The analysis shows that the Korean balance is sharply affected by the uncertain mix of cooperation and competition between the United States and China The U S rebalancing of its forces to Asia and the steady modernization of Chinese forces in particular the growth of Chinese sea air missile capabilities affect the balance in the Koreas and Northeast Asia They also raise the possibility of far more intense conflicts that could extend far beyond the boundaries of the Koreas

Arming East Asia Eric Setzekorn, 2023-03-15 Arming East Asia Deterring China in the Early Cold War examines President Eisenhower's mutual security program in East Asia and explains how that administration worked to contain China This historical chronicle offers insights and perspectives regarding how to address Sino American tensions and maintain a free and open Asia Pacific Eric Setzekorn argues that President Eisenhower expanded and solidified the U S presence in East Asia through use of military aid and military advisory efforts in sharp contrast to the use of U S military forces by Presidents Truman Kennedy and Johnson In South Korea Taiwan Japan and Southeast Asia particularly in Thailand and South Vietnam the United States spent billions of dollars and significant time developing local military forces By the end of Eisenhower's two terms a force of over 1.4 million Allied soldiers in East Asia had been trained equipped and often paid through American military assistance Eisenhower's mutual security policies were vital in building local allies and by the end of the 1950s East Asia was beginning a long period of growth that would make it the economic heart of the world within fifty years American policies that created close ties and involvement in the affairs of allied nations also constrained allies such as Chiang Kai-shek in Taiwan and Syngman Rhee in South Korea who often sought to take direct action against the PRC The heavy role of American military advisors and experts on the ground in East Asia also profoundly shaped the character of these nations all of which were emerging from war by putting massive resources into the government administration and military forces of newly formed states With an assertive China using its growing political and military power throughout East Asia contemporary U S security challenges are similar to the situation faced in that earlier contentious era Eisenhower's policies from 1953 to 1961 clearly demonstrate an awareness of the possibilities for military economic and political growth in East

Asia and the challenges of deterring Chinese PRC expansion during the early Cold War The views expressed in this publication are those of the author and do not necessarily reflect the official policy or position of the Department of Defense or the U S government

Asia Imperial Entertainers Korean Women Performers from Military to Global Stages 1937-75 uncovers the untold stories of Korean women performers who navigated successive waves of conflict from the Pacific War to the Korean and Vietnam Wars as cultural laborers in military entertainment. The author traces how these women became central figures in a dynamic entertainment market that emerged across the Asia Pacific region amid U.S. Military expansion. Through extensive archival research and intimate interviews with former performers, this book reveals how these women skillfully balanced multiple roles representing South Korea's new identity as a free nation performing Americanness for military audiences and pursuing their own personal and professional aspirations. From their early performances in EUSAK (Eight United States Army Korea) clubs to their later success in Vietnam War era entertainment circuits, these entertainers formed a unique labor pool that circulated throughout the militarized zones of Asia. While their performances served American military interests and Cold War cultural diplomacy, these women were not merely passive participants in U.S. hegemony. Instead, they actively shaped their careers, challenged cultural boundaries, and carved out spaces for individual agency within the constraints of military entertainment. By examining these entertainers as cultural laborers with transnational military networks, the author offers new insights into the intersection of war, gender, and cultural labor in East Asia.
