Publication Branch,1993-08 Criminal Behaviour from School to the Workplace Frank Weerman,Catrien Bijleveld,2013-12-17 This volume focuses on the complex relation between offending and the transition from school to the workplace how employment and education are related to breaking the law and getting in contact with the criminal justice system The contributors report results from several large scale and sophisticated studies conducted in the Netherlands that gathered rich data on employment education and criminal behaviour Each of the studies focuses on a particular period during the life course and particular risk categories Taken together they contribute to our understanding of how getting out of school getting into a job and doing illegal things are intertwined over the life course and how these relations differ with age and gender The background of this volume is our interest in the often studied relation between offending and employment or more generally between offending and the transition from school to work including dropping out part time work and joblessness The available literature casts little doubt that employment and education are indeed related to less crime and offending However this relation is much more complex than it appears at first hand The volume is primarily aimed at researchers and students in the fields of criminology sociology and economics However it may also be of use for non academic professionals in particular policy makers and practitioners in the field of criminal justice probation rehabilitation and youth schools

Sex, Culpability, and the Defence of Provocation Danielle Tyson, 2013 The partial defence of provocation is one of the most controversial doctrines within the criminal law It has now been abolished in a number of international jurisdictions Addressing the trajectory of debates about reform of the provocation defence across different jurisdictions Sex Culpability and the Defence of Provocation considers the construction and representation of subjectivity and sexual difference in legal narrations of intimate partner homicide Undeniably the most vexing exculpatory cultural narrative of our times is that of a woman asking for it This book explores how the process of judgment in a criminal trial involves not only the drawing of inferences from the facts of a particular case but also operates to deliver a narrative Law it is argued constructs a narrative of how the female body incites male violence And pursuing an approach that is informed by socio legal studies literary theory and feminist theories of the body Sex Culpability and the Defence of Provocation considers how this narrative is constructed via a range of discursive practices that position woman as a threat to masculine norms of propriety and autonomy Once we have a clear understanding of the significance of narrative in legal decision making we can then formulate textual strategies of resistance to the violence of law s victim blaming narratives by rewriting them

The Emotional Brain and the Guilty Mind Federica Coppola, 2021-02-11 This book seeks to reframe the normative narrative of the culpable person in American criminal law through a more humanising lens It embraces such a reframed narrative to revise the criteria of the current voluntarist architecture of culpability and to advance a paradigm of punishment that positions social rehabilitation as its core principle The book constructs this narrative by considering behavioural and neuroscientific insights into the functions of emotions and socio environmental factors within moral behaviour in social settings Hence it suggests culpability notions that reflect a more contextualised view of human conduct and argues that such revised notions are better suited to the principle of personal guilt Furthermore it suggests a model of punishment that values the dynamic power of change of individuals and acknowledges the importance of social relationships and positive environments to foster patterns of social re integration Ultimately this book argues that the potential adoption of the proposed models of culpability and punishment which view people through a more comprehensive lens may be a key factor for turning criminal justice into a less punitive more inclusionary and non stigmatising system The Migration Question Leila Simona Talani, Matilde Rosina, 2025-07-01 This authoritative book proposes a fresh perspective on international migration offering decisive answers to the big questions and dismantling the main myths surrounding one of the most salient issues of today's global politics Who are these migrants Do they steal our jobs Can we help them in their home countries Do border controls improve security Are open borders desirable Leila Simona Talani and Matilde Rosina address these issues and more in their deeply researched study of migration into both Europe and the United States Assessing globalisation's impact on international migration the authors find that it is virtually impossible to stop contemporary flows from the Global South to North In this context policies designed to control limit or deter immigration simply transform some or all regular migrants into irregular ones exacerbating insecurity for citizens of the receiving state and criminalising the migrants Through empirical research including original surveys and interviews Talani and Rosina demonstrate conclusively that the only solution to this short circuit world of securitisation and criminalisation is for the Global North to open its doors to the migrants already inevitably coming through particularly since the evidence shows that regularising migration is a positive sum game in economic social and security terms Genocide and
