Hidden in Plain Sight Peter J. Wallison, 2016-03-29 The 2008 financial crisis like the Great Depression was a world historical event What caused it will be debated for years if not generations The conventional narrative is that the financial crisis was caused by Wall Street greed and insufficient regulation of the financial system That narrative produced the Dodd Frank Act the most comprehensive financial system regulation since the New Deal There is evidence however that the Dodd Frank Act has slowed the recovery from the recession If insufficient regulation caused the financial crisis then the Dodd Frank Act will never be modified or repealed proponents will argue that doing so will cause another crisis A competing narrative about what caused the financial crisis has received little attention This view which is accepted by almost all Republicans in Congress and most conservatives contends that the crisis was caused by government housing policies This book extensively documents this view For example it shows that in June 2008 before the crisis 58 percent of all US mortgages were subprime or other low quality mortgages Of these 76 percent were on the books of government agencies such as Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac When these mortgages defaulted in 2007 and 2008 they drove down housing prices and weakened banks and other mortgage holders causing the crisis After this book is published no one will be able to claim that the financial crisis was caused by insufficient regulation or defend Dodd Frank without coming to terms with the data this book contains *The Parliamentary Debates (official Report[s]) ... Air University Library Index to Military Periodicals ,1994      Insurance, Climate Change and the Law Franziska Arnold-Dwyer,2024-04-03 The insurance industry has found itself at the front line of climate change challenges providing insurance cover in relation to risks associated with climate change As risk carriers insurers pay claims for climate change related losses such as property damage caused by windstorms flooding and wildfires which have been increasing in frequency and severity As major institutional investors insurance companies invest in assets that may be increasingly vulnerable to climate risks Insurance regulators across the globe have therefore started to require insurance companies to identify manage and report on climate change risks that could pose a threat to their financial stability However managing and reporting on the effect of climate risk on an insurer s balance sheet is an inward looking perspective that does not stem climate change It needs to be paired with an outward looking perspective that takes account of the insurance industry s impact on the environment and the insurance industry s capacity to influence what policyholders investee enterprises and other business partners do to address climate change challenges For the insurance industry the key components of positive outward impact are impact underwriting and impact investment This book sets out the current legal and regulatory landscape for impact underwriting and impact investment Whilst the focus of research and regulatory interventions to date has been on inward impact in this book it will be argued that to take positive climate action that supports the Paris Agreement goals and the national and international Net Zero targets the debate should now move on to considering the positive outward impact the insurance industry can make and how we can create a legal environment to facilitate this The book puts forward the case for a new vision of the role of the insurance industry as climate action enablers and makes proposals for insurance products and risk transfer and loss resilience structures that can support policyholders in their transition to a Net Zero economy The audience for this book will include legal practitioners insurance industry professionals financial and insurance regulators policymakers and interested academics
