One Face in a Million William Bond,2020-08-26 One Face in a Million is an entirely fictional story evolved over many years I began thinking about writing a story after I visited southern Africa in 1967 where my wife had been born and raised and was often called Mu Shangaaniana when she was young I began to formulate a story about a young gal who had been raised on a mission station in Mozambique She was anxious to leave Africa for America to have a more interesting life A plot began in my mind and I envisioned a striking gal to have a life that was quite amazing She would travel and fall in love meet notable people and experience a lot of success Would that prove to be satisfying During the years that followed I was privileged to travel to many places throughout the world so my story evolved in a way that readers could share in some of my traveling experiences My protagonist had to decide what was really important in her life Her story takes place across the span of a few decades therefore the story eventually developed into a series of five books which should be considered as one Because the title is One Face in a Million I knew her appearance would be of real interest I looked at images of several notable actresses of the past but the one that I preferred was of Merle Oberon Perhaps it would be just as well for any reader to formulate your own ideas of what my characters would look like Although this is a fictitious story I hope that it entertains those who choose to read it      Keller County Cops Book Two: Shield of Valor Melanie Atkins,2011-09 Stoic NOPD Detective Mitch Ransom is in control of his life until he agrees to testify before the grand jury against a brutal serial killer. Then he's kidnapped, threatening his court appearance and finds himself trapped with a woman he doesn't like and believes he has to protect. Tiffany Golden, a police dispatcher, is trying to break the mold set for her by her stripper mother.
