Automatic Transmissions - Manual Control Sequence Automatic Transmission and Transaxle Committee, 2017 The scope and purpose of this SAE Recommended Practice is to provide a standard pattern or sequence for the manual control of automatic transmissions in passenger cars and light duty trucks This generally refers to left hand drive mechanical shift applications This document is published as Stabilize The J915 content is not fully compliant with current industry developments and as such may require a different standard The content within the J915 standard relies on Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standards FMVSS 102 and 114 Portions of the J915 standard that are unique may not represent current common practices within the user community When this standard was initially published it reflected a common philosophy towards automatic transmission manual controls sequence Since that time changing technologies like self driving cars satellite controlled driven cars and electric cars may have led members of the user community to have potentially divergent methods for manual controls sequences of automatic transmissions beyond the minimum requirements specified within the applicable Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standards As a result a different standard may be required

Passenger Car and Light Truck Automatic Transmission and Automatic Transaxle Test Code Automatic Transmission and Transaxle Committee, 1991 To provide a means of obtaining the performance characteristics of automatic transmissions and automatic transaxles It outlines dynamometer tests that map the steady state characteristics over a range of operations of an automatic transmission automatic transaxle and provides a method of presenting test data This procedure must be followed with similar test facilities so that results obtained from different laboratories are comparable For this SAE Recommended Practice the transmission is defined as the complete automatic transmission or transaxle assembly between the engine and the driveshaft s used to effect a ratio change in transmitting power This test procedure deals with the aspect of conducting complete transmission and transaxle assembly testing However by its very nature a transmission should be viewed as a compilation of three major component systems pump torque converter and gearbox all ratio change elements From a design perspective it is important that the losses associated with each of these components be determined by conducting separate tests of each component under controlled test conditions that simulate the in transmission operating conditions Torque converter testing is described in SAE J643 If done with strict attention to detail it is possible to subtract off the pump and torque converter losses from the transmission assembly losses in order to obtain gearbox losses only eliminating the need to conduct a separate gearbox test
