Resources in Education , 1994-12 Tools and Techniques for Effective Data-driven Decision Making Philip Alan Streifer, 2004 With the new federal law No Child Left Behind there is ever increasing pressure on schools to be accountable for improving student achievement That pressure is taking the form of focused efforts around data driven decision making However very little is known about what data driven decision making can really tell one about improving achievement nor is there a full explanation available about what it really takes to do this work The few examples that do exist while proposing to get at some of these issues make huge assumptions about educators knowledge base and available resources necessary for success In this book Philip Streifer fills the gaps by laying out how this work can be done and then explains what is knowable when one actually conducts these analyses and what follow up steps are needed to make true improvements He provides readers with a comprehensive understanding of what data driven decision making can and cannot tell educators about student achievement and addresses the related issues for leadership policy development and accountability Senior level district administration for policy development school level administrators who have to put policy into practice and graduate college professors teaching data driven decision making will find this book most useful Unison Reading Cynthia McCallister, 2011 Written as a guide to help teachers who are interested in implementing Unison Reading in their classrooms and schools the book presents Unison Reading as both a method and a program including practical guidance and solid theoretical support Children's Reading Comprehension and Assessment Scott G. Kryder-Coe, Lester M. Salamon, Janice Marie Molnar, 1991-01-01 In his preface to this volume Lester M Salamon writes that Homelessness among children and youth is too serious a problem to be ignored in our national social policy Both for its immediate effects on those who are homeless and for the inadequacies it reveals in our social support systems homelessness among children and youth has truly become a national tragedy If this book helps to bring this problem to national attention to document its scope and consequences and to point the way toward possible solutions it will have amply served its purpose Based on a conference sponsored by The Johns Hopkins University Institute for Policy Studies last year this volume brings together some of the best research and policy analysis ever assembled on this important issue Among the contributors are Lisa Mihaly Marjorie J Robertson James D Wright Yvonne Rafferty Kay Young McChesney Chester Hartman Michael A Stegman Linda A Wolf and Carol W Williams The volume covers issues from the scope of child homelessness to its broader impacts and causes and the social responses needed to cope with it. The volume focuses on two populations with differing needs and solutions: very young children (infants, pre-schoolers) and school-age children who are part of homeless families; and older young people who are homeless but on their own, pregnant teens and teen parents, runaways, and older adolescents. Central to the volume is a critical examination of the health, mental health, developmental, and educational impacts produced by homelessness, causes of the problem in society, the economy, and our housing market, and the levels of existing support systems. In short, this is a comprehensive state-of-the-art examination of homelessness as it affects children and will be greeted as such by policy makers at all levels of government and by professionals in economics, sociology, social work, and urban studies.

Salkind, 2010-10-31. Educational psychology is a broad field characterized by the study of individuals in educational settings and how they develop and learn. It incorporates information from such sub-disciplines such as developmental psychology, human development across the life span, curriculum, and instruction, motivation, and measurement and assessment. Neil Salkind has mined the rich and extensive backlist of SAGE education and psychology journals to pull together a collection of almost 100 articles to be the definitive research resource on education psychology. Section One: Human Growth and Development focuses on the processes involved in human growth and development, including ages and stages of development, different theoretical perspectives, and the role and effectiveness of early intervention among other topics. Section Two: Cognition, Learning, and Instruction concentrates on the mechanisms through which individuals learn and retain information. Section Three: Motivation explores why individuals seek out goals and what the mechanisms are that characterize this search as it relates to learning. Section Four: Measurement, Assessment, and Statistics looks at the topics that are critical to understanding individual differences, the growth in the use of computers as assessment tools, qualitative and quantitative methods, statistical techniques, and evaluation.

Fair And Justice-Oriented Assessment

Margaret Heritage, E. Caroline Wylie, 2025-09-08. In Fair and Justice Oriented Assessment, Margaret Heritage and Caroline Wylie propose that the key to improving learning opportunities for all students lies in increasing educators' assessment literacy. Only by examining various assessment practices through a lens of fairness and equity can practitioners best judge their use and value and then develop strategies for implementation that truly elevate student learning in alignment with school and district standards and in ways that are fair and just. To build better assessment literacy, Heritage and Wylie seek to strengthen professional knowledge of ambitious teaching and use of both formative and summative classroom assessment practices. They clearly describe the knowledge and skills teachers need to better orient classroom assessment practices toward more positive learning experiences for all students. Critically, they urge educators to establish substantive learning goals, attend to the ways of eliciting evidence of student learning towards those goals, and reflect on the evidence to take action that intends to advance learning. This book features real world examples of assessment practices across a range of contexts and content areas, grade levels, and student populations, and shows how assessment literacy competencies can be achieved at scale with support from school and district leaders. Fair and Justice Oriented Assessment provides a research based and yet practical perspective on classroom assessment and advocates for the use of equity oriented curricular and ambitious teaching.
