Ryan O'Callaghan, Cyd Zeigler, 2025-07-01 A riveting account of life as a closeted professional athlete from gay NFL player O'Callaghan against the backdrop of depression, opioid addiction, and the threat of suicide. O'Callaghan's story is one of beautiful vulnerability, and it further shows the importance of knowing you aren't alone. Oprah Daily recommended by Gayle King. Ryan O'Callaghan's plan was always to play football, and then when his career was over, he killed himself. Growing up in a politically conservative corner of California, the not-so-subtle messages he heard as a young man from his family and from TV and film routinely equated being gay with disease and death. Letting people in on the darkest secret he kept buried inside was not an option: better death with a secret than life as a gay man. As a kid, Ryan never envisioned just how far his football career would take him. He was recruited by the University of California Berkeley, where he spent five seasons playing alongside his friend Aaron Rodgers. Then it was on to the NFL for stints with the almost undefeated New England Patriots and the often defeated Kansas City Chiefs. Bubbling under the surface of Ryan's entire NFL career was a collision course between his secret sexuality and his hidden drug use. When the league caught him smoking pot, he turned to NFL-sanctioned prescription painkillers that quickly sent his life into a tailspin. As injuries mounted and his daily intake of opioids reached a near-lethal level, he wrote his suicide note to his parents and plotted his death. Yet someone had been watching. A member of the Chiefs organization stepped in, recognizing the signs of drug addiction. Ryan reluctantly sought psychological help, and it was there that he revealed his lifelong secret for the very first time. Nearing the twilight of his career, Ryan faced the ultimate decision: end it all or find out if his family and football friends could ever accept a gay man in their lives.

3 Big Questions That Change Every Teenager Kara Powell, Brad M. Griffin, 2021-08-03 Today's teenagers are the most anxious, creative, and diverse generation in history, which can make it hard for us to relate. And while every teenager is a walking bundle of questions, three rise above the rest: Who am I? Where do I fit? What difference can I make? Young people struggle to find satisfying and life-giving answers to these questions on their own. They need caring adults willing to lean in with empathy, practice listening, and gently point them in the direction of better answers. They are enough because of Jesus; they belong with God's people, and they are invited into God's greater story. In this book, which is based on new landmark research from the Fuller Youth Institute and combines in-depth interviews with data from 1,200 diverse teenagers, Kara Powell and Brad M. Griffin offer pastors, youth leaders, mentors, and parents practical and proven conversations and connections that help teenagers answer their three biggest questions and reach their full potential.
