Allan Quatermain H. Rider Haggard, 2015-01-08 Make your mind easy said he I will As the sequel shows he did I went I lived in barracks on black soup I am a refined man and a poet by nature and I suffered tortures from the coarse horror of my surroundings There was a drill sergeant and he had a cane Ah that cane how it curled Alas never can I forget it One morning came the news my battalion was ordered to Tonquin The drill sergeant and the other coarse monsters rejoiced I I made enquiries about Tonquin They were not satisfactory In Tonquin are savage Chinese who rip you open My artistic tastes for I am also an artist recoiled from the idea of being ripped open The great man makes up his mind quickly I made up my mind I determined not to be ripped open I deserted

The Ivory Child H. Rider Haggard, 2015-01-10 Now I Allan Quatermain come to the weirdest with one or two exceptions perhaps of all the experiences which it has amused me to employ my idle hours in recording here in a strange land for after all England is strange to me I grow elderly I have as I suppose passed the period of enterprise and adventure and I should be well satisfied with the lot that Fate has given to my unworthy self To begin with I am still alive and in health when by all the rules I should have been dead many times over I suppose I ought to be thankful for that but before expressing an opinion on the point I should have to be quite sure whether it is better to be alive or dead The religious plump for the latter though I have never observed that the religious are more eager to die than the rest of us poor mortals

Finished H. Rider Haggard, 2015-01-08 You my friend into whose hand if you live I hope these scribblings of mine will pass one day must well remember the 12th of April of the year 1877 at Pretoria Sir Theophilus Shepstone or Sompseu for I prefer to call him by his native name having investigated the affairs of the Transvaal for a couple of months or so had made up his mind to annex that country to the British Crown It so happened that I Allan Quatermain had been on a shooting and trading expedition at the back of the Lydenburg district where there was plenty of game to be killed in those times Hearing that great events were toward I made up my mind curiosity being one of my weaknesses to come round by Pretoria which after all was not very far out of my way instead of striking straight back to Natal As it chanced I reached the town about eleven o'clock on this very morning of the 12th of April and trekking to the Church Square proceeded to outspan there as was usual in the Seventies The place was full of people English and Dutch together and I noted that the former seemed very elated and were talking excitedly while the latter for the most part appeared to be sullen and depressed

Allan Quatermain Henry Rider Haggard, 2018-07-30 Allan Quatermain by Henry Rider Haggard eeps a bright look out at night or in vulgar English a sharp fellow who is not to be taken in Then there was Good who is not like either of us being short dark stout very stout with twinkling black eyes in one of which an eyeglass is everlastingly fixed I say stout but it is a mild term I regret to state that of late years Good has been running to fat in a most disgraceful way Sir Henry tells him that it comes from idleness and over feeding and Good does not like it at all though he cannot deny it We sat for a while and then I got a match and lit the lamp that stood ready on the table for the half light began to grow dreary as it is apt to do when one has a short week ago buried the hope of one's life Next I opened a cupboard in the wainscoting and got a bottle of whisky and some tumblers and water I always like to do these things for myself it is irritating to me to have somebody continually at my elbow as though I were an eighteen month old baby We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience Allan Quatermain Sir

H Rider Haggard, 2020-08-04 Before there was Indiana Jones there was Allan Quartermain the original explorer treasure hunter and adventurer In this sequel to King Solomon's Mines Allan Quatermain and his companions once more set out for Africa this time in search of a white race reputed to live north of Mount Kenya They survive fierce encounters with Masai warriors undergo a terrifying subterranean journey and discover a lost civilization before being caught up in a passionate love triangle that engulfs the country in a ferocious civil war Haggard not only narrates his story with wonderfully dramatic and poetic touches but also reveals many Victorian preoccupations with evolution and race sexuality and the New Woman

Holy Flower H. Rider Haggard, 2015-01-08 Maybe maybe for everything goes by comparison and at one end of the ladder is the ape man and at the other as we hope the angel No not the angel he belongs to a different sphere but that last expression of humanity upon which I will not speculate While man is man that is before he suffers the magical death change into spirit if such should be his destiny well he will remain man I mean that the same passions will sway him he will aim at the same ambitions he will know the same joys and be oppressed by the same fears whether he lives in a Kafir hut or in a golden palace whether he walks upon his two feet or as for aught I know he may do one day flies through the air This is certain that in the flesh he can never escape from our atmosphere and while he breathes it in the main with some variations prescribed by climate local law and religion he will do much as his forefathers did for countless ages Child of the Storm H. Rider Haggard, 2015-01-08 Maybe maybe for everything goes by comparison and at one end of the ladder is the ape man and at the other as we hope the angel No not the angel he belongs to a different sphere but that last expression of humanity upon which I will not speculate While man is man that is before he suffers the magical death change into spirit if such should be his destiny well he will remain man I mean that the same passions will sway him he will aim at the same ambitions he will know the same joys and be oppressed by the same fears whether he lives in a Kafir hut or in a golden palace whether he walks upon his two feet or as for aught I know he may do one day flies through the air This is certain that in the flesh he can

Haggard,2015-01-08 One day it was about a week after Allan Quatermain told me his story of the Three Lions and of the moving death of Jim Jim he and I were walking home together on the termination of a day s shooting He owned about two thousand acres of shooting round the place he had bought in Yorkshire over a hundred of which were wood It was the second year of his occupation of the estate and already he had reared a very fair head of pheasants for he was an all round sportsman and as fond of shooting with a shot gun as with an eight bore rifle We were three guns that day Sir Henry Curtis Old Quatermain and myself but Sir Henry was obliged to leave in the middle of the afternoon in order to meet his agent and inspect an outlying farm where a new shed was wanted However he was coming back to dinner and going to bring Captain Good with him for Brayley Hall was not more than two miles from the Grange      Allan Quatermain Sir H Rider

Haggard,2020-12-12 I read this because it was an old adventure novel I loved that it was based in Africa because I grew up there The story is good and I laughed out loud here and there I was surprised to find that there is a whole series of books and likely will read more of them That said there are parts of the story that seem a bit well unbelievable not so bad as to put me off the book altogether but enough to be a weensy bit annoying I suppose that s probably a positive attribute in some books

there s nothing really wrong with suspension of disbelief I like fantasy its just I found this danced a bit too close to the oh my word really you want me to believe that I like the author s style however The conversational way the book is written is amusing It s even kind of funny the way it reads a bit like a diary at points I recommend the book with the caveat that it is well most definitely fiction if you know what I mean Some pure fantasy totally fiction is written in a way that you want to believe it could be real in an alternate universe or something This book will entertain and hold interest but you ll never really think it could be real Edit The above was written when I was about half way through about the time the heroes found the locale they sought through the first half of the book This turned out to be the most far fetched part of the tale Upon ending the story I find it quite easy to overlook this segment and quite forgot that I had graded it as middle of the road This is a rich adventure with plenty of action and intrigue of heroics and sacrifice The fantastic aspects of the story are in retrospect not significant enough to reject the entertainment it provided Upon finishing the book and finding myself mulling over the story I simply must bump the rating higher In fact I do believe even though I m not much for going to superlatives that a five properly reflects how I feel about it I m going to download another book by this author right now     Allan Quatermain H. Rider Haggard,2020-06-20 We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive classic literature collection This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Unlike some other reproductions of classic texts We have not used OCR Optical Character Recognition as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos Also in books where there are images such as portraits maps sketches etc We have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images so they represent accurately the original artefact Although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy We use state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works A week had passed since the funeral of my poor boy Harry and one evening I was in my room walking up and down and thinking when there was a ring at the outer door Going down the steps I opened it myself and in came my old friends Sir Henry Curtis and Captain John Good RN They entered the vestibule and sat themselves down before the wide hearth where I remember a particularly good fire of logs was burning It is very kind of you to come round I said by way of making a remark it must have been heavy walking in the snow     Allan's Wife H. Rider Haggard,2015-01-08 I have often thought Mr Quatermain s manuscript begins that I would set down on paper the events connected with my marriage and the loss of my most dear wife Many years have now passed since that event and to some extent time has softened the old grief though Heaven knows it is still keen enough On two or three occasions I have even begun the record Once I gave it up because the writing of it depressed me beyond bearing once because I was suddenly called away upon a journey and the third time because a Kaffir boy found my manuscript convenient for lighting the kitchen fire But now that I am at leisure here in England I will make a fourth attempt If I succeed the story may serve to interest some one in after years when I am dead and gone before that I should not wish it to be published It is a wild tale enough and suggests some curious reflections *H.
