Safety and Respect

1. The tray is the boundary
 - a) No tissue parts should be outside of the tray, for any reason, at any time.
2. Preserving fluid should not be splashed or spilled if possible.
3. Wash hands thoroughly before and after handling materials. Use non-latex gloves.
4. Respect
 - a) The heart is a complex, complicated, and entirely awesome organ. It deserves respect for what it can teach us. Please be respectful of this resource.
5. Safety
 - a) Scalpels are made for cutting flesh. Be careful. Do not have the scalpel in your hand while reaching for anything else.
 - b) Use probes for examining the tissue – not the scalpel. Scalpels are for cutting only.
6. Cleanup
 - a) Return heart to labeled baggie for your group
 - b) Trays: rinse off and pat down with paper towel
 - c) Lab tools (probe, scalpel, etc.): rinse off and place back on tray
 - d) Place tray on back counter and throw away any used paper towels
 - e) Place baggie with heart in designated area for your class period

Hey, Doc! Are You Listening to Your Heart? Richard Sheff, 2008-09-29 If you want to help change medicine give this book to your doctor Hey Doc the true story of Dr Richard Sheff s personal journey through medical training as a family physician shows us a new way to understand doctors and ourselves as patients I knew then as now there is something terribly lacking in how we take care of patients and train physicians Over two decades in medicine has taught me that the most potent tool for healing we as physicians have is our heart But each of us must learn to listen to our own heart before we can touch and heal the hearts of our patients While this book is a must read for anyone considering a career in medicine Hey Doc speaks to the patient in all of us Readers will understand their own doctor and come away with new hope that when sick and most vulnerable they can be heard understood and touched by their physician Dr Sheff teaches us the surprising truth that in their hearts doctors yearn for the same connection with us

CURRICULUM REFORM IN

PAKISTAN Amna Afreen, 2022-02-25 I have written this book in an effort to explore how the history of Pakistan has resulted in the critical problems weighing down its education system. The book examines the questions: Why and how has a small elite class come to rule Pakistan? And how has their rule worsened the country's problems? The focus will be to critically examine the elements of the Pakistani national curriculum and madrasas and their effects on Pakistani society. The book represents the fusion of my experiences in Pakistan with extensive literature analysis, interviews, and textbook analysis. This research began when I came to the United States in January 2015 through the SAR program. I wanted to know the answers to profoundly unsettling questions: How can a society be so intolerant that a scholar educated solely in Pakistan is disregarded and assassinated while many Western educated scholars with traditional insular thoughts are not only appreciated but flourishing? I wanted to know why Pakistani elites have so much power and freedom while lower classes are profoundly oppressed. Elites who barely pay taxes have been in power for generations while those that pay taxes suffer from sky-high inflation. The influential religious leaders mostly belong to the elite class while their followers are mostly lower class. Ruling families and social classes mostly control appointed positions. Do those in power not have a responsibility to speak on issues of social justice rather than limiting themselves in claiming that theirs is the only true form of Islam? Why don't they work to end the disparity of quality education between classes in Pakistan? Instead, many elites run their own lucrative elite Islamic schools. More importantly, why do the ulama, which literally means those who possess knowledge, particularly of Islam, maintain a tight hierarchical system in the madrasa, Islamic seminary community that rarely allows poor intelligent students to attain leadership positions? Why are the ulama silent in the face of ruthless murder and discrimination against Pakistani minorities? Book Review: Pakistan Educational Reforms is a major study of education in Pakistan and its national and madrasa curriculum that fosters national and religious sectarian divisions, intolerance, and conflicts. Dr. Amna Afreen documents the political, socio-economic, and religious causes, limited government funding, widespread poverty, and illiteracy, and the poor training and performance of teachers that have produced a failed educational system at urban and rural government and religious schools, madrasa, and offers a series of potential solutions and reforms. John L. Esposito, University Professor and Founding Director of The Alwaleed Center for Muslim-Christian Understanding, Georgetown University.

Rhetoric in the Flesh T. Kenny Fountain, 2014-07-11 Rhetoric in the Flesh is the first book-length ethnographic study of the gross anatomy lab to explain how rhetorical discourses, multimodal displays, and embodied practices facilitate learning and technical expertise and how they shape participants' perceptions of the human body. By investigating the role that discourses, displays, and human bodies play in the training and socialization of medical students, T. Kenny Fountain contributes to our theoretical and practical understanding of the social factors that make rhetoric possible and material in technical domains. Thus, the book also explains how these displays, discourses, and practices lead to the trained perspective necessary for expertise. This trained vision is constructed over time through what Fountain terms embodied rhetorical action: an intertwining of body and object.

environment that undergirds all scientific medical and technical work This book will be valuable for graduate and advanced undergraduate courses in technical and professional communication technical communication theory and practice visual or multimodal communication medical technical communication and rhetorical studies including visual rhetoric rhetoric of science medical rhetoric material rhetoric and embodiment and ethnographic approaches to rhetoric A Different Degree Hari Kumar, 2021-04-07 Winston Churchill defined Russia as a riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma It was still the case when Hari Kumar left southern India and went behind the Iron Curtain in the seventies to study medicine at Peoples Friendship University Moscow USSR Through the eyes of a man from a very different background and culture Hari recounts his intimate observations of the lives and habits of the Russians their joys troubles ambitions and hopes It is a true story from a fascinating period in History delightfully told with an abundance of humour A Different Degree gives you a remarkable insight to attempt to solve the riddle unravel the mystery and understand the enigma that was the USSR

Contradictions of School Reform Linda McNeil, 2002-09-11 Parents and community activists around the country complain that the education system is failing our children They point to students failure to master basic skills even as standardized testing is widely employed in efforts to improve the educational system Contradictions of Reform is a provocative look into the reality for students as well as teachers of standardized testing A detailed account of how student improvement and teacher effectiveness are evaluated Contradictions of Reform argues compellingly that the preparation of students for standardized tests engenders teaching methods that vastly compromise the quality of education A Cartoon Guide to Becoming a Doctor Fizzy McFizz, 2011-09-25 A Cartoon Guide to Medicine is a collection of humorous cartoons about the grueling medical training process Laboratory Manual for Clinical Anatomy and Physiology for Veterinary Technicians - E-Book Thomas P.
