This question paper consists of 18 pages and 3 data sheets.

(QUESTION 5 (Start on a new page.)

A 12 kg block is initially at rest at point A at the bottom of a ROUGH inclined plane. The block is pulled up the incline by a constant force  $F$  acting parallel to the incline. The block reaches point B, which is at a vertical height of 4.0 m above the horizontal, with a speed of 2.00 m/s. See the diagram below.

- 5.1 Define the term non-conservative force.
- 5.2 Draw a labelled free-body diagram for the block when it is pulled up the incline plane.
- 5.3 Calculate the total work done on the block by the NON-CONSERVATIVE forces when the block moves from point A to point B. (4)

The same constant force  $F$  now moves the block at a CONSTANT VELOCITY across a rough horizontal surface from point B to point C, as shown below. Force  $F$  acts parallel to the horizontal surface.

The magnitude of the constant frictional force acting on the block while moving from point B to point C is 40 N, 40% of the magnitude of the constant frictional force acting on the block when it moves from point A to point B.

- 5.4 Calculate the distance from point A to point B. (5)

29 September 2014 Memo Of That Paper:

People's Force Robert Haldane, 2018-02-26 Since its formation in 1853 the story of the Victoria Police has been interwoven with Victorian social and political history Following the amalgamation of seven separate and distinct police agencies in the colony the resultant unified body was the first of its kind in Australia Many events have shaped its development the gold rushes the Clunes riot the Kelly outbreak the maritime strikes the coming of the motor car the police strike both world wars and the Vietnam war protests the gangland wars Black Saturday bushfires and the use of DNA to solve crimes all formed part of this mosaic This revised edition of The People's Force containing a new chapter and new illustrations brings the history up to date to include a decade that has been full of turbulent change The new chapter examines the administrations of Neil Comrie Christine Nixon Simon Overland Ken Lay and Graham Ashton New material deals with Silk and Miller and other police shootings the growth of terrorism gender issues racism and domestic violence Written as a work and all history of the Victoria Police with the support and encouragement of the then Chief Commissioner S I Mick Miller who wanted a proper objective history of the force not a public relations exercise This third edition is owed largely to Miller's encouragement and his desire to see the history updated

Law and Regulation of Mobile Payment Systems Joy Malala, 2017-11-28 Over the last ten years mobile payment systems have revolutionised banking in some countries in Africa In Kenya the introduction of M Pesa a new financial services model has transformed the banking and financial services industry Giving the unbanked majority access to the financial services market it has attracted over 18 million subscribers which is remarkable given that fewer than 4 million people in Kenya have bank accounts This book addresses the legal and regulatory issues arising out of the introduction of M Pesa in Kenya and its drive towards financial inclusion It considers the interaction between regulation and technological innovation with a particular focus on the regulatory tools institutional arrangements and government decisional processes through the examination as a whole of its regulatory capacity This is done with a view to understanding the regulatory capacity of Kenya in addressing the vulnerabilities presented by technological innovation in the financial industry for consumers after financial inclusion It also examines the way that mobile payments have been regulated by criticising the piecemeal approach that the Central Bank of Kenya has taken in addressing the legal and regulatory issues presented by mobile payments The book argues there are significant gaps in the regulatory regime of mobile banking in Kenya

The President, the State and the Cold War James Bilisland, 2015-02-11 US foreign policy during the Cold War has been analysed from a number of perspectives generating large bodies of literature attempting to explain its origins its development and its conclusion However there are still many questions left only partially explained In large part this is because these accounts restrict themselves to a single level of analysis either the international system or the structure of the state and society The first level of analysis focusing on the role of individuals has largely been excluded This book argues that structural theories and any approach that limits itself to one level of analysis are inadequate to explain the development of US foreign policy. Instead it is necessary to incorporate the first level of analysis in order to bring human agency back and provide a more detailed explanation of US foreign policy. Bilsland proposes an analytical framework which incorporates presidential agency into a multi level analysis of US foreign policy during the Cold War constructing a multi level case study comparison of the foreign policies of Presidents Truman and Reagan. He argues that the worldview of the president is central to agenda setting in US foreign policy making and that the management style of the president influences both decision making and the implementation of US foreign policy. Evidence to support this is drawn from detailed empirical analysis of Truman's foreign policy of containment in Korea and Reagan's foreign policy of rollback in Nicaragua. This work will be of interest to students and scholars of US Foreign Policy, US History and International Relations.

Democracy Promotion by Functional Cooperation Tina Freyburg, Sandra Lavenex, Frank Schimmelfennig, Tatiana Skripka, Anne Wetzel, 2016-02-03. This book presents a novel governance model of democracy promotion. In detailed case studies of EU cooperation with Moldova, Morocco and Ukraine it examines how the EU promotes democratic governance through functional cooperation in the fields of competition policy, the environment and migration.

The Cuban Missile Crisis Len Scott, R. Gerald Hughes, 2015-04-10. This volume brings together a collection of leading international experts to revisit and review our understanding of the Cuban Missile Crisis via a critical reappraisal of some of the key texts. In October 1962 humankind came close to the end of its history. The risk of catastrophe is now recognised by many to have been greater than realised by protagonists at the time or scholars subsequently. The Cuban missile crisis remains one of the most intensely studied moments of world history. Understanding is framed and informed by Cold War historiography, political science and personal experience written by scholars, journalists and surviving officials. The emergence of Soviet, later Russian and other national narratives has broadened the scope of enquiry while scrutiny of the operational, especially military dimensions has challenged assumptions about the risk of nuclear war. The Cuban Missile Crisis: A Critical Reappraisal brings together world leading scholars from America, Britain, France, Canada and Russia to present critical scrutiny of authoritative accounts and to recast assumptions and interpretations. The book aims to provide an essential guide for students of the missile crisis, the diplomacy of the Cold War and the dynamics of historical interpretation and reinterpretation. Offering original ideas and agendas, the contributors seek to provide a new understanding of the secrets and mysteries of the moment when the world went to the brink of Armageddon. This book will be of great interest to students of the Cuban missile crisis, Cold War Studies, nuclear proliferation, international history and International Relations in general.

Strategy Shelved Steven Wills, 2021-08-15. As US strategy shifts once again to focus on great power competition, Strategy Shelved provides a valuable analytic look back to the Cold War era by examining the rise and eventual fall of the US Navy's naval strategy system from the post World War II era to 1994. Steven T. Wills draws some important conclusions that have relevance to the ongoing strategic debates of today. His analysis focuses on the 1970s and 1980s as a period when US

Navy strategic thought was rebuilt after a period of stagnation during the Vietnam conflict and its high water mark in the form of the 1980s maritime strategy and its attendant six hundred ship navy force structure He traces the collapse of this earlier system by identifying several contributing factors the provisions of the Goldwater Nichols Act of 1986 the aftermath of the First Gulf War of 1991 the early 1990s revolution in military affairs and the changes to the Chief of Naval Operations staff in 1992 following the end of the Cold War All of these conditions served to undermine the existing naval strategy system The Goldwater Nichols Act subordinated the Navy to joint control with disastrous effects on the long serving cohort of uniformed naval strategists The first Gulf War validated Army and Air Force warfare concepts developed in the Cold War but not those of the Navy's maritime strategy The Navy executed its own revolution in military affairs during the Cold War through systems like AEGIS but did not get credit for those efforts Finally the changes in the Navy OPNAV staff in 1992 served to empower the budget arm of OPNAV at the expense of its strategists These measures laid the groundwork for a thirty year strategy of means where service budgets a desire to preserve existing force structure and lack of strategic vision hobbled not only the Navy but also the Joint Force's ability to create meaningful strategy to counter a rising China and a revanchist Russian threat Wills concludes his analysis with an assessment of the return of naval strategy documents in 2007 and 2015 and speculates on the potential for success of current Navy strategies including the latest tri service maritime strategy His research makes extensive use of primary sources oral histories and navy documents to tell the story of how the U S Navy created both successful strategies and how a dedicated group of naval officers were intimately involved in their creation It also explains how the Navy's ability to create strategy and even the process for training strategy writers was seriously damaged in the post Cold War era

State of democracy, human rights and the rule of law in Europe

Council of Europe, 2015-07-03 Democratic security is an old idea based on the argument that democracies rarely if ever go to war with each other Democratic practices equally protect states from internal strife Democratic security is a responsibility which all nations share This second annual report on the state of democracy human rights and the rule of law in Europe assesses the capacities of the member states to guarantee and enhance democratic security within their borders and collectively across the continent It measures the extent to which the Council of Europe's 47 member states are able to make the five pillars of democratic security a reality namely an efficient and independent judiciary freedom of expression freedom of assembly and association the functioning of democratic institutions and inclusive society and democratic citizenship The report also draws on the Council of Europe's capacity to monitor and evaluate performance in terms of democracy human rights and rule of law and to identify remedies for shortcomings and provide assistance in their implementation

The EU-Ukraine Association Agreement and Deep and Comprehensive Free Trade Area Guillaume Van der Loo, 2016-01-19 In The EU-Ukraine Association Agreement and Deep and Comprehensive Free Trade Area Guillaume Van der Loo provides the first comprehensive legal analysis of this complex and controversial international agreement While key political and legal hurdles towards the signing and conclusion of this agreement are analysed its scope and contents are scrutinised and contrasted to other international agreements concluded by the EU Specific attention is devoted to the ambitious deep and comprehensive free trade area and the unique provisions related to Ukraine's approximation to the EU acquis In particular this book explores to what extent the agreement can be considered a new legal instrument for EU integration without membership

Organizational Perspectives on Environmental Migration Kerstin Rosenow-Williams, François Gemenne, 2015-10-16

Over the past decade international organizations IOs and non governmental organizations NGOs have increasingly focused their efforts on the plight of environmental migrants in both industrialized and developing countries However to date very few studies have analysed the influence and rhetoric of advocacy groups in the debates on environmental migration Organizational Perspectives on Environmental Migration fills this lacuna by drawing together and examining the related themes of climate change and environmental degradation migration and organizational studies to provide a fresh perspective on their increasing relevance In order to assess the role of IOs and NGOs in the environmental migration discourse and to understand their interaction and their ways of addressing the topic the book contains a wide range of contributions covering the perspectives of organizational sociologists political scientists anthropologists geographers lawyers and practitioners The chapters are organized thematically around the perspectives of key actors in the area of environmental migration including IOs courts and advocacy groups The geographically diverse and interdisciplinary range of contributions makes this volume an essential foundational text for organizational responses to environmental migration This volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of migration studies international relations organizational sociology refugee law and policy and development studies

Economics for People and the Planet James Boyce, 2019-01-16 Economics for People and the Planet a collection of essays by James K Boyce on the environment inequality and the economy argues that there is not an inexorable trade off between advancing human well being and having a clean and safe environment The goal of economic policy should be to grow the good things that improve our well being and environmental quality and reduce the bad things that harm humans and nature To reorient the economy for these ends we will need to achieve a more egalitarian distribution of wealth and power Global climate change the most pressing environmental challenge of our time adds urgency to this task and creates historic opportunities for moving towards a greener future The audiobook version of Economics for People and the Planet features new chapters on the Green New Deal and the environmental costs of inequality Foreword by Manuel Pastor

Geopolitics of the New Middle East Şaban Kardaş, Bülent Aras, 2023-06-26 This edited book takes a critical look at the geopolitics of the broader Middle East and North Africa MENA region It scrutinizes some of the perennial issues shaping the regional security agenda as well as the emerging geopolitical trends in the wake of a decade of turmoil triggered by the demands for political and economic reforms The contributors explore the geopolitical implications of the structural transformation process in the MENA region and beyond which has unleashed destabilizing forces and multifaceted conflicts with the involvement of many local regional and global actors They also look at how some of the regional actors have reacted to the risks and security challenges produced by the wave of instability and conflicts and conducted their foreign policy in this volatile period of fluid alliances Other contributors explore the roles and perspectives of major extra regional actors delving deeper into how they have adjusted their policies towards the emergence of a new order and reshuffling of alignments This book will be of interest to researchers and advanced students of politics international relations and political geography It was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Balkan and Near Eastern Studies the rule of law in a global context      Migration and Transnationalism Between Switzerland and Bulgaria Marina Richter, Paolo Ruspini, Dotcho Mihailov, Vesselin Mintchev, Michael Nollert, 2016-09-01 This book explores trends in migration from Bulgaria to Switzerland since Bulgaria joined the European Union EU in 2007 Due to several unique factors this in depth case study provides a basis for understanding transnational migration in a wider European context Bulgarians represent a fairly small community within Switzerland and are quite scattered throughout the country They come from various regions in Bulgaria with very different socio economic profile In Switzerland apart from differences in linguistic regions and the federal system there are significant regional disparities providing a variety of contexts for exploring this transnational migration causes and consequences The first part of the book analyses who migrates and why addressing regional disparities within Bulgaria The text explores the impact of economic differences educational background and other factors that play into immigrants motivations to move The next part of the book examines different migratory movements and transnational practices between Switzerland Bulgaria and other destination countries for Bulgarian immigrants It addresses larger socioeconomic shifts and resulting impacts at individual household community and national levels Finally the book assesses all of these factors within the context of shifting immigration policies This work draws on mixed method empirical research conducted in both countries over a three year period analysed within four major frameworks transnationalism and migrant networks social inequality regional disparities and development and immigration policies The results will be of interest for researchers working in a variety of social science fields including anthropology geography sociology social psychology law public policy political science international studies demography and exploring issues related to migration and development social and regional disparities inequality employment social networks social identity and others      Framing the Threat Imke Köhler, 2019-03-04 There is great power in the use of words words create most of what we consider to be real and true Framing our words and narratives is thus a tool of power but a power that also comes with limitations This intriguing issue is the topic of Framing the Threat an investigation of the relationship between language and security and of how discourse creates the scope of possibility for political action In particular the book scrutinizes and compares the security narratives of the former US presidents George W Bush and Barack Obama It shows how their framings of identity i e of the American self and the enemy other facilitated a certain construction of threat that shaped the presidents detention and interrogation policies By defining what was necessary in the name of national security Bush s narrative justified the operation of the detention center at Guantanamo Bay and rendered the mistreatment of detainees possible a situation that would have otherwise been illegal Bush s framings therefore enabled legal limits to be pushed and made the violation of rules appear legitimate Obama in contrast constructed a threat scenario that required an end to rule violations and the closure of Guantanamo for security reasons According to this narrative a return to the rule of law was imperative if the American people were to be kept safe However Obama s framing was continually challenged and it was never able to dominate public discourse Consequently Framing the Threat argues Obama was unable to implement the policy changes he had announced

Translating Evidence and Interpreting Testimony at a War Crimes Tribunal Ellen Elias-Bursac, 2015-02-17 How can defendants be tried if they cannot understand the charges being raised against them Can a witness testify if the judges and attorneys cannot understand what the witness is saying Can a judge decide whether to convict or acquit if she or he cannot read the documentary evidence The very viability of international criminal prosecution and adjudication hinges on the massive amounts of translation and interpreting that are required in order to run these lengthy complex trials and the procedures for handling the demands facing language services This book explores the dynamic courtroom interactions in the International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia in which witnesses testify through an interpreter about translations attorneys argue through an interpreter about translations and the interpreting and judges adjudicate on the interpreted testimony and translated evidence
