Research Question How does the teaching of an organizational checklist and graphic organizers affect struggling second grade students in their informational writing

Sub Questions 1 Would an organizational checklist lead to better informational writing more writing samples with a level 3 according to AUSD rubric 2 Would a graphic organizer lead to better informational writing more writing samples with a level 3 according to AUSD rubric

Research Activities This research focuses on teaching students to organize their writing better by using the Step Up to Writing approach The students were introduced to a graphic organizer which they used throughout the inquiry The students then were taught to use a writing checklist to help them organize and improve their writing skills Context The study took place in a self contained second grade classroom in a public school The intervention was implemented with the whole class but focused on four focus students Out of the four students one was an English language learner whose primary language was Chinese Methods and Data The intervention lasted a period of six weeks and incorporated a variety of writing activities to practice the tools being taught in the inquiry In addition peer work through the use of the writing checklist increased collaboration Data sets include a pre and post writing assignment an attitudinal survey and a series of observations Results The comparisons of pre and post intervention data indicate that the use of the graphic organizer and writing checklist positively increased students scores The writing activities with the use of the writing tools improved the students with the organization of their writing and their ability to focus on one topic Using the checklist gave students the ability to work with one another creating a sense of responsibility Grade Level Second Grade Data Collection Methods Observation behavior tallies student work Survey attitude writing assessment writing samples Curriculum Areas English Language Arts Writing Instructional Approaches Writing Prompts Writing Organization Writing Explicit instruction Writing Peer response feedback Writing Self evaluation 40

The population consists of sixty seven public and private school students in fourth and fifth grade. The most prominent results indicate that the use of a digital graphic organizer first leads to significant improvements in the following five writing outcome areas: goal statements, reasoning statements, supporting arguments, conclusion statements, and overall scores. Likewise, female students also showed significant improvements in all five writing outcomes. Comparable to digital, the use of paper-based graphic organizers first resulted in significant improvements in three areas: supporting arguments, conclusion statements, and overall scores. For older students aged 10-11, the use of both paper-based and digital graphic organizers first leads to significant improvements in the following five writing outcome areas: goal statements, reasoning statements, supporting arguments, conclusion statements, and overall scores. The overall results indicate that graphic organizers yield significant improvements in the persuasive writing of fourth and fifth grade students. Furthermore, a consistent finding throughout this study is that the use of paper-based and digital graphic organizers results in significant improvements in these three areas: supporting arguments, conclusion statements, and overall scores.

Research questions: Does the use of graphic organizers improve the quality of students' pro and con arguments when writing persuasive essays?

1. Is the use of graphic organizers an effective tool for ELL students?
2. In what way is student attitude towards essay writing altered upon the introduction of graphic organizers as an essay writing tool?

Research Activities Context: This intervention took place in an 8th grade U.S. History classroom with 32 students. Of these 32, two students were re-designated former ELL. The intervention was conducted at a medium-sized middle school in the greater Bay Area region. Both former ELL students were withdrawn from the program by their families and placed into mainstream schooling. Twenty-five of the thirty-two students were Asian, with the remaining seven being Caucasian. This group of students was roughly representative of the school's population as a whole.

Methods and data: Before the intervention, a survey was administered to the students to determine student attitudes towards essay writing and their ability to make a written argument. A rubric was used to measure achievement on persuasive essays in six different areas of the essay. Once pre-intervention essays were completed, students were introduced to two graphic organizers designed to help them focus their arguments and back them up with historical evidence. Students also participated in a debate and worked as individuals and in groups. After the intervention, students wrote another essay using their graphic organizers. On the final day of the intervention, students took another attitudinal survey.

Results: For the most part, students achieved much higher marks on the second essay than on their first. The majority of students reported on their attitudinal survey that they found the Argument Outline Handout useful.

However students reported feeling less comfortable backing up an argument with historical evidence after the intervention than they had before Many students expressed after the intervention that they particularly enjoyed the debate and hoped to do more debates in future units Grade Level 8 Data collection methods Essay Observation field notes Survey Attitude Curriculum Area Social Studies United States History Instructional approaches Debate Group review Graphic Organizers
