

The 2019 Guidelines for the DHET Bursary Scheme

- The Guidelines indicate the different funding conditions for university students on the new Bursary Scheme and returning university students on the previous funding conditions.
- Tuition fee coverage for the new bursary for FTEN university students depends on the actual tuition fee for a particular programme of study.
- Standardised allowances are being implemented across the university system, with the food/living allowance being standardised from 2018 onwards.
- Accommodation and travel allowances vary depending on institutional policy. Over time a more detailed policy with maximum limits will be put into place.
- A book and learning materials allowance is provided annually to every student in universities.
- University students must sign a Bursary Agreement, which confirms that they agree to the conditions and obligations of the bursary.
