The Rise and Fall of Modern Empires, Volume IV Martin Shipway, 2016-12-05 The collection of essays in this volume offers an overview of scholarly approaches to the ways in which diverse actors representing the colonised or the colonising nations or indeed the international community reacted to colonialism during the lifetime of the modern colonial empires or in their aftermath The coverage is broad in terms of geographical scope and historical period with articles on the major colonial empires in Asia and Africa and the imperial centres of Paris London and Berlin from the conquests of the late nineteenth century to the period of decolonisation The selection also reflects recent academic trends by focusing on countries whose colonial past and experience of decolonisation have been studied and debated with particular intensity such as Algeria Kenya and India The volume draws on previously published articles and book chapters by leading international scholars writing in or translated into English and includes a critical introduction which situates each essay in relation to recent debates in this dynamic and expanding field of study

African Christian Mothers and Fathers Mark Ellingsen, 2015-10-21 After almost a millennium and a half scholars are rediscovering the theological roots of Christianity in ancient North Africa But we still have a long way to go in bringing these insights to the Church's consciousness What has been needed is a careful but accessible analysis of what the great theologians of the region prior to and contemporary with Augustine actually taught about the faith and why what they said still matters today African Christian Mothers and Fathers is precisely the book we have needed an explanation of the theology of these great though in some cases forgotten early church leaders for scholars seminarians pastors and laity Mark Ellingsen author of an acclaimed book on the thought and life of Augustine takes readers on an insightful tour of the theological landscape of North Africa and its thought from the late first through the early fifth centuries and brings us back to the present enriched with ancient but fresh ideas for living the faith

Trauma and Transformation in African Literature J. Roger Kurtz, 2020-10-04 This book fills a gap in the field of contemporary trauma studies by interrogating the relevance of trauma for African literatures Kurtz argues that a thoughtful application of trauma theory in relation to African literatures is in fact a productive exercise and furthermore that the benefits of this exercise include not only what it can do for African literature but also what it can do for trauma studies He makes the case for understanding trauma healing within the larger project of peacebuilding with an emphasis on the transformative potential of what he terms the African moral imagination as embodied in the creative work of its writers He offers readings of selected works by Chinua Achebe Ngugi wa Thiong'o Chimamanda Adichie and Nuruddin Farah as case studies for how African literature can influence our understanding of trauma and trauma healing This will be a valuable volume for those with interests in current trends and developments in trauma studies African literary studies postcolonial studies and memory studies
