National Preparedness William O. Jenkins, 2009-11 Hurricane Katrina the most destructive disaster in our nation's history highlighted gaps in preparedness for a catastrophic disaster FEMA is the lead fed agency responsible for developing a national preparedness system The system includes policies and plans as well as exercises and assessments of capabilities across many public and private entities This report assesses the extent to which FEMA has 1 developed policies and plans that define roles and responsibilities 2 implemented the National Exercise Program a key tool for examining preparedness 3 developed a national capabilities assessment and 4 developed a strategic plan that integrates these elements of the preparedness system Includes recommendations Illustrations The Lessons and Non-Lessons of the Air and Missile Campaign in Kosovo Anthony H. Cordesman, 2001-08-30 The conclusion of a war typically signals the beginning of a flood of memoirs and instant campaign histories many presenting the purported but often dubious lessons of the recent conflict Cordesman is careful to avoid such pitfalls in this detailed and closely reasoned analysis and helps us to begin to understand the implications of this dramatic conflict on its own terms Based on a combination of official and unofficial but always authoritative sources he builds a thorough case for the true lessons of NATO's first battle fought within Europe After consideration of the historical major political and strategic factors that set the stage for the Kosovo campaign Cordesman critically examines the actual effectiveness of the NATO air campaigns both in Kosovo and Serbia proper Operations in this rugged part of Europe were difficult and compounding the challenges of terrain and weather were the conflicting national agendas within the Allied coalition that seriously hampered focused and decisive action by NATO Although Milosevic ultimately conceded defeat all of these factors played an important role in limiting the intensity and shaping the military outcome of the campaign and the likely political and strategic results were far from certain Cordesman unflinchingly concludes that the air campaign over Kosovo exposed deep fault lines within and among the NATO countries and fundamental flaws in the way the West wages war National Response Plan, Homeland Security, December 2004, 2005

Hone,Mark D. Mandeles,Sanford S. Terry,1996-09-24 During Desert Shield the Air Force built a very complicated organizational architecture to control large numbers of air sorties During the air campaign itself officers at each level of the Central Command Air Forces believed they were managing the chaos of war Yet when the activities of the many significant participants are pieced together it appears that neither the planners nor Lt Gen Charles A Horner the Joint Force Air Component Commander knew the details of what was happening in the air campaign or how well the campaign was going There was little appreciation of the implications of complex organizational architectures for military command and control Against a smarter and more aggressive foe the system may well have failed     Looking for a Hero Peter Maslowski,Don Winslow,2020-10-08 Widely acclaimed as the Vietnam War s most highly decorated soldier Joe Ronnie Hooper in many ways serves as a symbol for that conflict His troubled tempestuous life paralleled the upheavals in American society during the 1960s and 1970s and his desperate quest to prove his manhood was uncomfortably akin to the macho image projected by three successive presidents in their tough policy in Southeast Asia Looking for a Hero extracts the real Joe Hooper from the welter of lies and myths that swirl around his story in doing so the book uncovers not only the complicated truth about an American hero but also the story of how Hooper s war was lost in Vietnam not at home Extensive interviews with friends fellow soldiers and family members reveal Hooper as a complex gifted and disturbed man They also expose the flaws in his most famous and treasured accomplishment earning the Medal of Honor In the distortions half truths and outright lies that mar Hooper s medal of honor file authors Peter Maslowski and Don Winslow find a painful reflection of the army s inability to be honest with itself and the American public with all the dire consequences that this dishonesty ultimately entailed In the inextricably linked stories of Hooper and the Vietnam War the nature of that deceit and of America s defeat becomes clear     Military Review ,2008
