Ford, 2017-02-06 This book is about the intersection of storytelling and science. Recognizing that humans are hard-wired for narrative, this collection of new essays integrates the two in a special way to teach science in the K-6 classroom. As science education changes its focus to concepts that bridge various disciplines along with science and engineering practices, storytelling offers opportunities to enhance the science classroom. Lesson plans are provided, each presenting a story, its alignment with science, Next Generation Science Standards, language arts, Common Core State Standards, and theater arts standards. National Core Arts Standards. Instructional plans include a rationale, preparation activities, and assessment.

Mayer, Bruce D. Homer, 2020-02-04 A comprehensive introduction to the latest research and theory on learning and instruction with computer games. This book offers a comprehensive introduction to the latest research on learning and instruction with computer games. Unlike other books on the topic which emphasize game development or best practices, Handbook of Game-Based Learning is based on empirical findings and grounded in psychological and learning sciences theory. The contributors, all leading researchers in the field, offer a range of perspectives including cognitive, motivational, affective, and sociocultural. They explore research on whether and how computer games can help students learn educational content and academic skills, which game features including feedback, incentives, adaptivity, narrative theme, and game mechanics can improve the instructional effectiveness of these games and applications, including games for learning in STEM disciplines, for training cognitive skills for workforce learning, and for assessment. The Handbook offers an indispensable reference both for readers with practical interests in designing or selecting effective game-based learning environments and for scholars who conduct or evaluate research in the field. It can also be used in courses related to play, cognition, motivation, affect, instruction, and technology. Contributors: Roger Azevedo, Ryan S. Baker, Daphne Bavelier, Amanda E. Bradbury, Ruth C.
