How Educational Ideologies Are Shaping Global Society Joel

Spring, 2014-04-08 In this book Joel Spring explores three major international educational ideologies that are shaping global society neo liberal educational ideology human rights education and environmentalism Neo liberal ideology reflects a rethinking of nationalist forms of education as the nation state slowly erodes under the power of a growing global civil society Traditional nationalist education attempts to mold loyal and patriotic citizens who are emotionally attached to symbols of the state whereas the goal of neo liberal educational ideology is to change nationalist education to serve the needs of the global economy These changes are fueling a clash between the ideas of free market and consumer based neo liberals and those of human rights and environmental educators Human rights education is concerned with creating activist global citizens It is rooted in the idea that inherent in human rights doctrines is a collective responsibility to ensure the rights of all people Environmentalism is the most radical of the ideologies because it rejects the industrial and consumerist paradigm that has dominated most economic thought including capitalism and communism Spring synthesizes and analyzes the effect of these educational ideologies on shaping the future of the global society In the concluding section he compares the effect of these ideologies on global society with the possibility of a world divided between conflicting civilizations How Educational Ideologies Are Shaping Global Society Intergovernmental Organizations NGOs and the Decline of the Nation State features a critical exploration of the transition of schooling from a function of the nation state to a globalized economic and political system a discussion of the major organizations and trading blocs shaping the future globalization of educational policies an analysis of the major competing global ideologies of education including national and corporate models that emphasize training workers for a competitive global free market the worldwide network of human rights and peace educators who are teaching a global set of ethics and the environmental movement s efforts to create a common set of educational standards for sustainable development and sustainable consumption and an exploration of the possible future of global educational policy and school organizations By integrating a wide range of previously scattered information within a bold new framework for understanding educational ideologies and their impact on the global society Spring raises important questions for researchers professionals and students in history and philosophy of education educational policy educational studies comparative education multicultural education curriculum studies critical media studies global studies human rights education and related areas     Integrating the Biopsychosocial Model in Education Taukeni, Simon George, Mollaoğlu, Mukadder, 2024-12-13 Amidst the evolving landscape of education a persistent challenge arises the need to foster inclusive learning environments that cater to the diverse needs of every student Despite strides towards educational equity barriers such as gender disparities inequality and inadequate support for students with varying abilities continue to impede progress Recognizing this pressing issue this book emerges as a timely solution poised to transform educational practices By reframing education through the lens of the biopsychosocial model Integrating the Biopsychosocial Model in Education offers a holistic approach that transcends traditional pedagogical boundaries Through an exploration of biological psychological and social factors educators are equipped with the tools to understand and address the complex needs of their students From promoting good health and well being to fostering inclusive classrooms the biopsychosocial model serves as a guiding framework for achieving the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs and cultivating a more equitable educational landscape

Unequal Partners Fabrice Jaumont, 2016-09-20 This book offers a nuanced analysis of a US led foundation initiative of uncommon ambition featuring seven foundations with a shared commitment to strengthen capacity in higher education in Sub Saharan African universities The book examines the conditions under which philanthropy can be effective the impasses that foundations often face and the novel context in which philanthropy operates today This study therefore assesses the shifting grounds on which higher education globally is positioned and the role of global philanthropy within these changing contexts This is especially important in a moment where higher education is once again recognized as a driver of development and income growth where knowledge economies requiring additional levels of education are displacing economies predicated on manufacturing and in a context where higher education itself appears increasingly precarious and under dramatic pressures to adapt to new conditions     Online Learning, Instruction, and Research in Post-Pandemic Higher Education in Africa Martin Munyao, 2022-11-14 Online Learning Instruction and Research in Post Pandemic Higher Education in Africa edited by Martin Munyao argues that beyond survival universities need to adapt to technology mediated communication learning in order to thrive Disruptive technologies have recently proved to be means of thriving for institutions of higher learning This book reflects on how leveraging on education technology has transformed teaching learning and research Higher Education Institutions HEI impacting Africa through digital transformation In particular HEIs are collaborating more now than ever before Finally this book addresses the challenges of teaching STEM programs online in Africa     Cyberimperialism? Bosah Ebo, 2000-11-30 This collection of essays addresses whether all nations will actively participate in building the information superhighway or whether the Internet will reflect global technological inequalities The writings are grouped in four major sections which examine theoretical issues on cyberglobalization politics in the electronic global village global economic issues in cyberspace and national identities and grassroots movements in cyberspace

Contributing scholars represent a wide spectrum of disciplines from political science economics and communications to sociology anthropology and philosophy A number of methodological and theoretical perspectives direct the writings Collectively the essays point toward an emerging technology that exhibits innate qualities characteristic of the classic notion of cultural imperialism This edited collection with its timely approach to the implications of the Internet for global relations will appeal to communication sociology and political science scholars The interdisciplinary approach will also attract students and educators from such fields as anthropology philosophy and economics To aid in further research select bibliographies follow each essay

Knowledge and Change in African Universities Michael Cross, amasa ndofirepi, 2017-01-28 While African universities retain their core function as primary institutions for advancement of knowledge they have undergone fundamental changes in this regard These changes have been triggered by a multiplicity of factors including the need to address past economic and social imbalances higher education expansion alongside demographic and economic growth concerns and student throughput and success with the realization that greater participation has not meant greater equity Constraining these changes is largely the failure to recognize the encroachment of the profit motive into the academy or a shift from a public good knowledge learning regime to a neo liberal knowledge learning regime Neo liberalism with its emphasis on the economic and market function of the university rather than the social function is increasingly destabilizing higher education particularly in the domain of knowledge making it increasingly unresponsive to local social and cultural needs Corporate organizational practices commodification and commercialization of knowledge dictated by market ethics dominate university practices in Africa with negative impact on professional values norms and beliefs Under such circumstances African humanist progressive virtues e g social solidarity compassion positive human relations and citizenship democratic principles equity and social justice and the commitment to decolonization ideals guided by altruism and common good are under serious threat The book goes a long way in unraveling how African universities can respond to these challenges at the levels of institutional management academic scholarship the structure of knowledge production and distribution institutional culture policy and curriculum
