

Only IH "Hy-Tran" fluid should be used and level should be maintained at the "FULL" mark shown on level gage (dipstick). The dipstick is located on left front side of rear frame.

Whenever power steering lines have been disconnected, or fluid changed, start engine and cycle power steering system from stop to stop several times to bleed air from system. Then, check and if necessary, add fluid.

HYDRAULIC FLOW AND PRESSURE TEST

All Models

6. A flow and pressure test can be made with a Flo-Rater or equivalent. Refer to Fig. 5 and connect inlet of Flo-Rater to the outlet of the power steering and hitch. Then, connect outlet of Flo-Rater to the return port from the hitch as shown.

7. HYDRAULIC PUMP. To check the pump free flow run engine at rated rpm (2200 on Models 454, 574 or 484, 2300 on Model 584 or 2400 on Models 464 and 674). Restrict the Flo-Rater to 1250 psi and there should be a 12.5 gpm flow on Model 584 or a 12 gpm flow on all other models.

If pump free flow is not as specified, remove and service pump as outlined in paragraphs 12 and 13.

8. STEERING RELIEF VALVE. To check the relief valve, restrict the Flo-Rater to 1500-1600 psi; at this point the valve should open. If pressure is not as specified, renew the relief valve assembly (F—Fig. 6) in the multiple control valve.

9. FLOW DIVIDER. To check the flow divider, restrict the Flo-Rater to 1500-1600 psi; approximately 2 1/4 gpm flow loss should occur when relief valve opens. If flow is not as specified, remove the flow valve (D—Fig. 6) in the multiple control valve and service by renewing parts.

HYDRAULIC PUMP

All Models

10. Tractors may be equipped with either Cessna (Fig. 7) or Plessey (Fig. 8) gear type pumps. Pump used on Model 584 is 12.5 gpm and pumps used on all other models are 12 gpm. A priority type flow divider takes approximately 3 gpm for the power steering and the balance is used for the draft, position and auxiliary valves in the hydraulic system.

11. REMOVE AND REINSTALL. To remove the hydraulic pump, drain all compartments of Hy-Tran and remove hydraulic filter. Disconnect all lines to Multiple Control Valve (MCV) and plug or cap openings. Disconnect pto linkage. Unbolt and remove MCV and pump. Remove cap screws securing pump to MCV.

NOTE: There are copper sealing washers under pump mounting cap screws.

12. OVERHAUL [CESSNA]. With pump removed from MCV, proceed as follows: Remove pump drive gear and key, then unbolt and remove cover (11—Fig. 7) from body (1). Balance of disassembly will be obvious after an examination of unit.

When reassembling, use new diaphragm, gaskets, back-up gasket, diaphragm seal and "O" ring. With open part of diaphragm seal (8) toward cover (11), work same into grooves of cover using a dull tool. Press protector gasket (7) and back-up gasket (6) into relief of diaphragm seal. Install check ball (12) and spring (13) in cover, then install diaphragm (5) inside the raised lip of the diaphragm seal and be sure bronze face of diaphragm is toward pump gears. Dip gear and shaft assemblies in oil and install them in cover. Position thrust plate (2) in pump body with bronze side toward pump gears and cut-out portion toward inlet (section) side of pump. Install pump body over gears and shafts and install retaining cap screws. Torque cap screws evenly and alternately to 40 ft.-lbs.

Check pump rotation. Pump will have a slight amount of drag but should turn evenly.

Pump gears and shafts, are available only as a pump assembly.

13. OVERHAUL [PLESSEY]. With pump removed from MCV, proceed as follows: Remove pump drive gear and key, then unbolt and remove covers (1 and 9—Fig. 8) from body. Balance of disassembly will be obvious after an examination of unit.

With pump disassembled, inspect all parts for burrs, scoring, wear or other damage.

Use all new seals, backing strip, and "O" ring, which are available only as a seal package. Any other parts are available only as a pump assembly.

Reassemble by reversing the disassembly procedure.

STEERING CONTROL VALVE

Models 454-464-574-674

14. REMOVE AND REINSTALL. To remove steering control valve, first remove cap (monogram) from steering wheel, remove nut, attach puller and remove steering wheel. Remove hood and side sheets, tunnel cover, batteries and instrument panel side covers. On diesel tractors, remove fuel shut off knob. On non-diesel tractors, remove choke knob and disconnect from back of panel. Identify and disconnect the four hydraulic lines from steering control valve. Plug and cap openings to prevent entrance of dirt in system. Remove the bolts securing the instrument panel to battery box and the front cap screws only on each side securing the steering pedestal to clutch housing and tilt pedestal rearward. Loosen the throttle indicator Allen screw and disconnect the throttle linkage inside
