1964 Surgeon General Report: Reducing the Health Consequences of Smoking, The U S Centers for Disease Control and Prevention CDC presents the text of the 1964 Surgeon General Report Reducing the Health Consequences of Smoking in PDF format The report is provided as part of the CDC s Tobacco Information and Prevention Source TIPS Smoking and Health Michael Gene Housman,2011 This paper analyzes the Surgeon General s announcement on January 11 1964 that cigarette smoking is a health hazard of sufficient importance in the United States to warrant appropriate remedial action Beginning with an analysis of the report itself it discusses the fact that both newspapers and magazines predicted that the announcement would have almost no effect on the smoking behaviors of Americans at the time Contrasting this the announcement actually precipitated a major decline in smoking rates among Americans that has continued to the present day To reconcile this fact the paper explores this unexpected phenomenon and concludes that there were three factors that contributed to its much greater impact than that of other similar reports and papers 1 The legitimacy and authority of the surgeon general s office 2 the meticulous accumulation and aggregation of scientific evidence characterizing the report that resulted in the claim that a causal relationship existed and 3 the widespread campaign that publicized the findings of the report Military Construction, Veterans Affairs, and Related Agencies Appropriations United States. tobacco products among members of these four groups Previous Surgeon General s reports on smoking and health have briefly summarized findings related to one or more of the racial ethnic groups covered in this report but this is the first Surgeon General s report to concentrate specifically on the four major racial ethnic groups in the United States Several factors prompted the development of this report First the information in this report has never before been compiled in one source Consequently policymakers community leaders researchers and public health workers have had difficulty determining the extent of the problem identifying gaps in information regarding tobacco use among members of the four groups or being aware of existing tobacco control programs that have demonstrated effectiveness Thus incorporating such information into the design and implementation of culturally appropriate services has been difficult Second the four racial ethnic groups currently constitute about one fourth of the population of this country and the Bureau of the Census projects that by 2050 the non Hispanic white population in the United States will total only 53 percent Day 1996 Preventing health problems related to tobacco use among the individuals in racial and ethnic groups will be integral to achieving U S public health objectives such as those proposed in Healthy People 2000 National Health Promotion and Disease Prevention Objectives U S Department of Health and Human Services USDHHS 1991 1995 National Center for Health Statistics NCHS 1994 This report contributes essential knowledge that must be incorporated into efforts to accomplish the Healthy People 2000 objectives
