

OUTSIDE DOOR LOCKS: As a precaution against theft, always lock all doors when leaving the car unattended. Front doors must be locked from outside with ignition key. Both front doors, if locked before closing, will automatically unlock when shut.

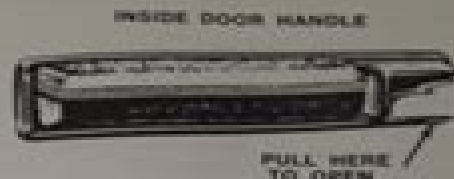

Always try to park your car in a well lighted area and lock it, even in your own driveway.

Never invite theft by leaving packages exposed inside the car. Put them in the trunk or take them with you.

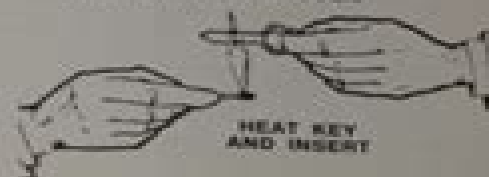

INSIDE DOOR LOCKS: Pressing the inside buttons down to lock all doors is an excellent safety precaution. When locked from the inside, the door cannot be opened by an intruder nor is it likely to open as the result of an impact on the outside release button. Two separate operations are required to open the doors (except driver's) once they are locked. First, the push button must be raised and then the inside door handle can be pulled. This reduces the risk of the doors being opened accidentally while the car is in motion. Small children riding in the rear seat of a four-door sedan can be discouraged from going through the process by the addition of a pair of optional "Child-Guard Door Locks."

CHILD-GUARD DOOR LOCKS (dealer installed): The cost of the unit from your dealer is nominal for the protection obtained. Your adult passengers should be advised of the operation of this device so that they will not be confused when trying to leave the car.
