Postgraduate Supervision Magda Fourie-Malherbe, Ruth Albertyn, Eli Bitzer, 2016-11-21 The 24 chapters contained in this volume provide diverse but also congruent perspectives on future foci for research into postgraduate education and supervision in the knowledge society The chapters move from deliberations on challenges for postgraduate supervision at macro level such as the pressure to increase postgraduate output and the implications of increasingly managerialist institutions to meso level matters the form and function of postgraduate education in specific countries to the micro rich case studies of individual institutions programmes and supervisors Global Perspectives on Decolonizing Postgraduate Education Gumbo, Mishack Thiza, Gaotlhobogwe, Michael, Pedzisai, Constantino, Jojo, Zingiswa Mybert Monica, Knaus, Christopher B., 2024-05-13 A deep seated issue persists in postgraduate education one that threatens the relevance of academia in our diverse and evolving world The problem at hand is the Western centric nature of postgraduate education where research paradigms methodologies and theoretical frameworks overwhelmingly reflect a Western worldview This rigid adherence to Western ideologies has left indigenous communities on the periphery of academic discourse denying them the opportunity to engage with their knowledge systems and practices Despite the richness and prevalence of indigenous knowledge the existing educational structure remains a barrier to their inclusion This disconnect is not only an academic concern but also a societal one as it hinders sustainable development and stifles the voices of indigenous scholars and students Global Perspectives on Decolonizing Postgraduate Education serves as a compelling solution to the problem at hand It offers a comprehensive roadmap to decolonize postgraduate education infusing it with indigenous approaches paradigms theories and methods Through critical examination and practical strategies this book empowers academics curriculum designers and postgraduate students to embark on a transformative journey

Sea Cucumbers: The Sustainability of Emergent and Historical Resources Pedro M. Félix, Christopher M. Pearce, Arnold Rakaj, Ana Pombo, 2025-03-13 Sea cucumbers are echinoderms with key ecological roles in marine ecosystems They are fished worldwide as food and for their various nutraceutical and pharmacological properties Over the years poorly managed fisheries in many countries have led to overexploitation and resulted in local population declines Nonetheless sea cucumber demand shows an increasing trend and consequently fishing grounds have expanded to new regions targeting new species and aggravating the problem It is important to acknowledge that present and future stock depletion is a reality under current exploitation conditions in many countries. Aquaculture can have a crucial role in supporting the conservation of natural resources through reduced fishing pressure and wild stock re-seeding and thus help meet global sea cucumber demand. The historic low economic relevance of sea cucumbers in new fishing regions has left a knowledge gap regarding the biological and ecological aspects of species in those regions, knowledge that is crucial for stock management and for developing appropriate rearing techniques. Successful approaches to the management of sea cucumbers need to incorporate robust management strategies and mitigation measures that include aquaculture options for potential restocking or for enhanced production potential. All these measures need to be developed, prepared and applied across diverse user groups. The global status and course of sea cucumber exploitation rationalizes the need for an increase in sea cucumber R D. Topics like population status, demographics, habitat preferences, distribution patterns, growth strategies, reproductive cycles and behavioural or life history traits are understudied but paramount for successful stock management and sustainable fisheries. Additionally, the development of sea cucumber aquaculture as an alternative to fisheries to supply international markets has led to a plethora of recent research on the subject. Advances in the successful integration of deposit feeders such as sea cucumbers into rearing systems with organisms at other trophic levels in what is commonly known as Integrated Multi Trophic Aquaculture (IMTA) have occurred and offer the promise of more efficient and sustainable production methods. All these topics require novel research approaches for the validation and application of these methodologies.

Creating Conditions for Student Success Magda Fourie-Malherbe, 2021-12-15. The various chapters of this book have brilliantly provided perspectives on creating conditions for success in higher education from a wide variety of stakeholders within a university environment. The rich content comes from varying fields of study as well as academic development and student affairs directorates within the institution. This is what is exciting about the book. The diversity of focus in chapters makes the book relevant to anyone with interest in higher education matters. From the opening to the closing chapter, students are making a contribution on what the university has done or is doing for them to succeed or what it should consider doing to improve its service to students. This touches on every environment that students find themselves in: a university setting, from residences to the classroom to commuter or off-campus students. The book's extended use of the capabilities approach and critical social theories has enabled it to provide nuances on not only the success of students but more importantly about how the higher education environment can transform itself to practices relevant for the sector today. The various research studies in this book can benefit similar university contexts nationally and internationally.

Resilient Religion, Resilience and Heartbreaking Adversity LIT Verlag, 2023-01-05. A resilience theory on religion needs to answer four questions: What defines the kind of adversity which is addressed in religion? What is characteristic for processes of resilience in religion? What defines resilient religion as outcome? Which logic of inference/epistemology based on our beliefs and experiences about reality binds these three elements together? The book starts with mapping the field of resilience theory on religion by addressing all four questions The need for thinking about Christian resilience and the God symbol is addressed and the need to be explicitly contextual with regard to resilience in South Africa Next three types practices of religious acting are related to experiences of resilience namely preaching narrating and discerning In the last chapters the focus is on the way stories help to express feelings of experiences of crises tragedy and trauma But also how stories can help heal the broken heart Prof Chris A M Hermans is extraordinary professor in practical theology and missiology at the University of the Free State South Africa He is emeritus professor in pastoral theology at Radboud University the Netherlands and emeritus professor in empirical study of religion as Radboud University the Netherlands Prof Kobus W J Schoeman is professor of practical theology at the University of the Free State South Africa
