

EXPOSITORY WRITING UNIT

LESSON PLAN DAY ONE – COLLECTING TOPICS

Materials

1. Sample Student Writing Packet or teacher writing for modeling to students
2. Student Writing Packet

Minilesson (10 minutes)

Tell students that expository writing is writing to explain or inform. Writers choose topics in a variety of ways. Today we are going to brainstorm about our favorite places, experiences and favorite things.

Model for students your own brainstorming about the following topics. Talk through why you choose the topics you choose. A few examples are provided. After modeling each topic, give students a few minutes to brainstorm on their own. It's important to share your own writing with students to inspire them to create their own ideas. If this isn't possible, use the sample student writing packet.

Best places in the world... (my bedroom, Golden Gardens beach, Discovery Park)

People worthy of admiration... (my grandma, Mother Teresa, Malala Yousfazi)

A change you'd like to see in the school... (cell phone blockers, more electives, more academic counselors)

Instruct students to spend 2-3 minutes making a list of the best place in the world. After students have had a chance to write a few ideas, have students turn to the person next to them and share their ideas. Ask one or two students to share aloud with the class. This will help students get a few ideas and make the process of collecting topics easier for students.

Independent Writing Time (35 minutes)

Students

Students spend time independently collecting topics around the three modeled topics (Places, Admireable People, School Changes). Tell students to brainstorm as many ideas around each topic as possible.

Argumentative Writing in a Second Language Alan R. Hirvela,Diane Belcher,2021-12-13 Argumentative Writing in a Second Language is a collection on teaching argumentative writing offering multiple vantage points drawn from the contributors own teaching and research experiences The value of learning how to compose argumentative texts cannot be overstated and yet very little attention has been allocated to the equally important topic of how argumentation is or can be taught in the L2 context Thus this volume shifts attention to teachers and argumentative writing instruction especially within increasingly common multimodal and digital literacy settings While doing so it provides a comprehensive wide ranging view of the L2 argumentative writing landscape within an instructional lens Part I of the volume is topic oriented and focuses on explorations of important issues and perspectives while Part II features several chapters reporting classroom based studies of a variety of instructional approaches that expand our understanding of how argumentative writing can be taught The book will be of value to pre service and in service teachers in varying instructional contexts as well as teacher educators and L2 writing scholars researchers

Teaching Middle School Writers Laura Robb,2010 My whole goal with this book was to come at teaching writing from the angle that matters most students perspective They taught me what I needed to know to make this book live up to their passion for writing Laura Robb Adolescents have robust and rewarding writing lives outside of school that involve journals emails text messages blogs and an astounding array of genres Unlike their personal reading lives that teachers frequently tap into their personal writings typically exist under the curricular radar that is until now While grounded in the common schedule constraints and curriculum demands of middle school Laura Robb's Teaching Middle School Writers offers teachers lessons and routines that are uncommonly attuned to adolescents' developmental and social needs As she taps into the energy and enthusiasm of adolescents' personal writing lives Laura presents writing plans that support first drafts strategies for crafting leads that grab and endings that satisfy grammar lessons that address writing conventions editing lessons that have students revise their writing before the teacher reads it guidelines for grading and responding to student work Straight from the classroom writing samples and videos give teachers the opportunity to see how Laura uses compelling questions and powerful mentor texts to teach writing support struggling writers and weave twenty-first century literacies into the writing curriculum Throughout teachers learn ways of connecting to students' lives in order to bring out their best writing their best self Watch a video overview
