Tested Linda Perlstein, 2025-03-14 The pressure is on at schools across America In recent years reforms such as No Child Left Behind have created a new vision of education that emphasizes provable results uniformity and greater attention for floundering students Schools are expected to behave more like businesses and judged almost solely on the bottom line test scores To see if this world is producing better students Linda Perlstein immersed herself in a suburban Maryland elementary school The resulting portrait detailed human and truly thought provoking is marked by the same narrative gifts and expertise that made Not Much Just Chillin so illuminating The school once deemed a failure is now held up as an example of reform done right Perlstein explores the rewards and costs of that transformation through the experiences of the people who lived it Nine year olds meditate to activate their brains before exams and kindergartners write paragraphs Teachers attempt to address diverse needs at the same time they are expected to follow daily scripts and feel compelled to focus on topics that will be tested at the expense of those that won t The principal attempts to keep it all together in the face of immense challenges Perlstein provides the first detailed view of how new education policies are modified by human realities Tested will be talked about thought about written about and will almost certainly play an important role in the national debate as the federal education law come up for renewal

Longitudinal Evaluations of Preschool Programs: Longitudinal evaluations, by Sally Ryan United States. Office of Child Development, 1974 The Impact of Learning to Read on Visual Processing Tânia Fernandes, Regine Kolinsky, 2016-01-26

Reading is at the interface between the vision and spoken language domains An emergent bulk of research indicates that learning to read strongly impacts on non linguistic visual object processing both at the behavioral level e g on mirror image processing enantiomorphy and at the brain level e g inducing top down effects as well as neural competition effects Yet many questions regarding the exact nature locus and consequences of these effects remain hitherto unanswered The current Special Topic aims at contributing to the understanding of how such a cultural activity as reading might modulate visual processing by providing a landmark forum in which researchers define the state of the art and future directions on this issue We thus welcome reviews of current work original research and opinion articles that focus on the impact of literacy on the cognitive and or brain visual processes In addition to studies directly focusing on this topic we will consider as highly relevant evidence on reading and visual processes in typical and atypical development including in adult people differing in schooling and literacy as well as in neuropsychological cases e g developmental dyslexia We also encourage researchers on nonhuman primate visual processing to consider the potential contribution of their studies to this Special Topic Tests in Print Oscar Krisen Buros, 2006 Methods of Handling Test Scores Luella Cole, Sidney Leavitt Pressey, 1926
