

A photograph of the Junta Central Electoral building in Costa Rica. The building is a modern, two-story structure with a yellow facade and a series of white-framed windows. A wide, light-colored stone staircase leads up to the entrance. Two flags are flying from poles on either side of the building: the flag of Costa Rica on the left and the flag of the Central American Parliament (Organismo Parlamentar Centroamericano) on the right. The sky is blue with some white clouds. A tall metal antenna stands behind the building. The name "Junta Central Electoral" is written in white letters above the entrance area.

Dangerous Intimacy Karen Lystra,2004-04-23 Publisher Description Cassese's International Criminal Law Antonio Cassese,2013-01-31 The third edition of International Criminal Law expounds the general principles governing international crimes as well as the fundamentals of both substantive and procedural international criminal law bringing the political and human contexts to the fore The Criminal Responsibility of Senior Political and Military Leaders as Principals to International Crimes Héctor Olásolo,2009-05-15 As shown by the trials of Slobodan Milosevic Charles Taylor and Saddam Hussein the large scale and systematic commission of international crimes is usually planned and set in motion by senior political and military leaders Nevertheless the application of traditional forms of criminal liability leads to the conclusion that they are mere accessories to such crimes This does not reflect their central role and often results in a punishment which is inappropriately low in view of the impact of their actions and omissions For these reasons international criminal law has placed special emphasis on the development of concepts such as control of the crime and joint criminal enterprise also known as the common purpose doctrine which aim at reflecting better the central role played by senior political and military leaders in campaigns of large scale and systematic commission of international crimes The Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court and the case law of the ICTY and the ICTR have in recent years played a unique role in the achievement of this goal

Perpetrators and Accessories in International Criminal Law Neha Jain,2014-12-01 International criminal law lacks a coherent account of individual responsibility This failure is due to the inability of international tribunals to capture the distinctive nature of individual responsibility for crimes that are collective by their very nature Specifically they have misunderstood the nature of the collective action or framework that makes these crimes possible and for which liability may be attributed to intellectual authors policy makers and leaders In this book the author draws on insights from comparative law and methodology to propose doctrines of perpetration and secondary responsibility that reflect the role and function of high level participants in mass atrocity while simultaneously situating them within the political and social climate which renders these crimes possible

This new doctrine is developed through a novel approach which combines and restructures divergent theoretical perspectives on attribution of responsibility in English and German domestic criminal law as major representatives of the common law and civil law systems At the same time it analyses existing theories of responsibility in international criminal law and assesses whether there is any justification for their retention by international criminal tribunals

Logical Methods

John N. Crossley, Jeffrey B. Remmel, Richard Shore, Moss E. Sneedler, 2012-12-06 The twenty six papers in this volume reflect the wide and still expanding range of Anil Nerode's work A conference on Logical Methods was held in honor of Nerode's sixtieth birthday 4 June 1992 at the Mathematical Sciences Institute Cornell University 1-3 June 1992 Some of the conference papers are here but others are from students co-workers and other colleagues The intention of the conference was to look forward and to see the directions currently being pursued in the development of work by or with Nerode Here is a brief summary of the contents of this book We give a retrospective view of Nerode's work A number of specific areas are readily discerned recursive equivalence types recursive algebra and model theory the theory of Turing degrees and r.e. sets polynomial time computability and computer science Nerode began with automata theory and has also taken a keen interest in the history of mathematics All these areas are represented The one area missing is Nerode's applied mathematical work relating to the environment Kozen's paper builds on Nerode's early work on automata Recursive equivalence types are covered by Dekker and Barback the latter using directly a fundamental metatheorem of Nerode Recursive algebra is treated by Ge Richards group representations Recursive model theory is the subject of papers by Hird Moses and Khoussainov Dadajanov while a combinatorial problem in recursive model theory is discussed in Cherlin Martin's paper Cenzer presents a paper on recursive dynamics
