The Daughter Zion Allegory in Medieval German Religious Writing Annette Volting, 2017-07-14 The Daughter Zion allegory represents a particular narrative articulation of the paradigm of bridal mysticism deriving from the Song of Songs the core element of which is the quest of Daughter Zion for a worthy object of love Examining medieval German religious writing verse and prose and Dutch prose works Annette Volting shows that this storyline provides an excellent springboard for investigating key aspects of medieval religious and literary culture In particular she argues the allegory lends itself to an exploration of the medieval sense of self of the scope of human agency within the mystical encounter of the gendering of the religious subject of conceptions of space and enclosure and of fantasies of violence and aggression Volting suggests that Daughter Zion adaptations increasingly tended to empower the religious subject to seek a more immediate relationship with the divine and to embrace a wider range of emotions the mediating personifications are gradually eliminated in favour of a model of religious experience in which the human subject engages directly with Christ Overall the development of the allegory from the twelfth to the fifteenth centuries marks the striving towards a greater sense of equality and affective reciprocity with the divine within the context of an erotic union

In Praise of Greek Athletes Peter J. Miller, 2024-05-09 In ancient Greece both epinikian songs and inscribed epigrams were regularly composed to celebrate victory at athletic festivals For the first time this book offers an integrated approach to both genres It focuses on the ultimate source of information about athletic victory the angelia or herald's proclamation By examining the ways in which the proclamation was modified and elaborated in epinikian song and inscribed epigram Peter Miller demonstrates the shared features of both genres and their differences Through a comprehensive analysis of the metaphor of the herald across the corpus he argues that it persists across form medium and genre from the Archaic to the Hellenistic period and also provides a rich array of close readings that illuminate key parts of the praise of athletes This title is part of the Flip it Open Programme and may also be available Open Access Check our website Cambridge Core for details

An and Intimate One-on-One Relationship Nordia A. Dixon, 2011-06 Many of us may believe connecting to the earth and universe can bring a form of peace hard work success and treating ourselves and others well can bring us happiness But how do we receive joy Happiness depends on what's happening outside of us such as materialistic achievements and how people treat us Joy is what we have despite what's happening around us a special gift received from being in an intimate relationship with our Triune Creator The best of us miss the mark and at least emulate sin in thoughts How we treat others including ourselves knowingly and unknowingly is also a factor How then do we enter into the presence of the Holy One our Creator The significant question every human being from all religions and thoughts should now ask is How do I get freedom from the consequences of missing the mark sin How does our Creator solve this challenge for us Matthew 16:13-17 NKJV When Jesus came into the region of Caesarea Philippi He asked His disciples saying Who do men say that I the Son of Man am So they said Some say John the Baptist some Elijah and others Jeremiah or one of the prophets He said to them But who do you say that I am Simon Peter answered and said You are the Christ the Son of the living God Jesus answered and said to him Blessed are you Simon Bar Jonah for flesh and blood has not revealed this to you but My Father who is in heaven The same two questions remain for us also Who does everyone else say Yeshua Christ is Who do you say He is Your answer to the latter is the most important answer of your lifetime
