Elections in Museveni's Uganda Sam Wilkins,Richard Vokes,2018-12-07 Uganda s 2016 elections which returned thirty year incumbent President Yoweri Museveni and his National Resistance Movement NRM in yet another landslide took place in an atmosphere of patronage coercion and fraud But is this diagnosis sufficient to understand the processes of voting and regime maintenance in Uganda today Based on a series of detailed case studies from across Uganda this book provides a more nuanced and complex picture of what the Museveni regime is and how it keeps winning elections Whilst not denying that various electoral malpractices are systemic to the regime s survival the authors find that these cannot be extricated from Uganda's history, its wider social realities and its local political cultures in which the NRM has become so embedded. In so doing, the authors who include anthropologists, development specialists, historians, geographers and political scientists develop new ways of thinking about the meaning of voting and elections in non-democratic Uganda and elsewhere. This edition was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Eastern African Studies.

European-language Writing in Sub-Saharan Africa Albert S. Gérard, 1986-01-01 The first major comparative study of African writing in western languages. European language Writing in Sub-Saharan Africa edited by Albert S. Gérard falls into four wide-ranging sections: an overview of early contacts and colonial developments; Under Western Eyes, chapters on Black Consciousness manifest in the debates over Panafrikanism and Negritude; a group of essays on mental decolonization expressed in Black Power texts at the time of independence struggles; and finally Comparative Vistas sketching directions that future comparative study might explore. An introductory essay stresses the millennia of writing in Africa side by side with a richly eloquent and artistic set of vernacular oral traditions. Written and oral traditions have become interwoven in adaptations of imported forms and linguistic innovations that challenge traditional high literary norms. Gérard uses the mathematical concept of fuzzy sets to explain why the focus on Black Africa has led him to set aside for future analysis the literatures produced in North Africa which fall under the influence of Muslim civilization as well as the diasporic literatures of the New World. Over sixty scholars from twenty-two countries contribute specialized studies of creative writing by leading authors in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries such as Achebe, Mphahlele, Ngugi, Senghor, Soyinka and Tutuola. Critical analyses are organized primarily around regions reflecting different colonial languages imposed through schools and other social institutions. Some authors trace the adaptation of western genres; others identify syncretism with folktales or myths. The volumes are attentive to the heterogeneity of national literatures addressed to polyethnic and multilingual populations and they note the instrumental politics of language in newly independent states. A closing chapter, Tasks Ahead, identifies areas for future scholars to explore.

Slavery in the Great Lakes Region of East Africa Henri Médard, Shane Doyle, 2007-11-16 Slavery in the Great Lakes Region of East Africa is a collection of ten studies by the most prominent historians of the region. Slavery was more important in the Great Lakes region of Eastern Africa than often has been assumed and Africans from the interior played a more complex role than was previously recognized. The essays in this collection reveal the connections between the peoples of the region as well as their encounters with the conquering Europeans. The contributors challenge the assertion that domestic slavery increased in Africa as a result of the international trade. Slavery in this region was not a uniform phenomenon and the line between enslaved and non-slave labor was fine. Kinship ties could mark the difference between free and unfree labor. Social categories were not always clear-cut and the status of a slave could change within a lifetime.
