applications The decision boundary from a support vector machine SVM can be used to identify the border between different types of deformation behaviour In this thesis this information is used to improve the accuracy of feedforward neural network metamodels Three different approaches are tested to split the design space and fit separate metamodels for the different regions to add estimated guiding samples to the fitting set along the boundary before a global metamodel is fitted and to use a special SVM based sequential sampling method Substantial improvements in accuracy are observed and it is found that implementing SVM based sequential sampling and estimated guiding samples can result in successful optimization studies for cases where more conventional methods fail
