Remotely Sensed Albedo Jean-Louis Roujean, Shunlin Liang, Tao He, 2021-02-24 Albedo is a known and documented phenomenon defined as the reflectivity of a surface i.e. the ratio of reflected light energy to incident light energy. It is a dimensionless quantity used in particular in agro-forestry, urban environment, cryosphere and geology. It is an Essential Climate Variable (ECV) deemed extremely meaningful to compute the earth heat balance. The albedo of natural surfaces varies largely, especially in the visible, with the lowest values found for water bodies and dense vegetation canopies and the highest values for desert and snow. It also changes with the angular distribution and spectral composition of the incident radiation and with the surface moisture. Satellite observations allow consistent measuring of the surface albedo at continental scale over a short period of time. Long term series of surface albedo are good indicators of climate change, especially over glaciers and polar caps. On the other hand, the albedo of bare soil provides a good diagnostic of their degradation. The reliability of satellite albedo is verified against ground based radiometers and UAV, which also serves to calibrate the instruments embarked on space borne observing systems and check the quality of the atmospheric correction. Multi-Scale Biogeochemical Processes in Soil Ecosystems Yu Yang, Marco Keiluweit, Nicola Senesi, Baoshan Xing, 2022-03-23 MULTI SCALE BIOGEOCHEMICAL PROCESSES IN SOIL ECOSYSTEMS Provides a state of the art overview of research in soil biogeochemical processes and strategies for greenhouse gas mitigation under climate change. Food security and soil health for the rapidly growing human population are threatened by increased temperature and drought, soil erosion and soil quality degradation and other problems caused by human activities and a changing climate. Because greenhouse gas emission is the primary driver of climate change, a complete understanding of the cycles of carbon and major nutritional elements is critical for developing innovative strategies to sustain agricultural development and environmental conservation. Multi Scale Biogeochemical Processes in Soil Ecosystems: Critical Reactions and Resilience to Climate Changes is an up to date overview of recent research in soil biogeochemical processes and applications in ecosystem management. Organized into three parts, the text examines molecular scale processes and critical reactions, presents ecosystem scale studies of ecological hotspots and discusses large scale modeling and prediction of global biogeochemical cycles. Part of the Wiley IUPAC Series on Biophysico Chemical Processes in Environmental Systems, this authoritative volume Provides readers with a systematic and interdisciplinary approach to sustainable agricultural development and management of soil ecosystems in a changing climate. Features contributions from an international team of leading scientists. Examines topics such as soil organic matter stabilization, soil biogeochemistry modeling and soil responses to environmental changes. Discusses strategies for mitigating greenhouse gas emission and improving soil health and ecosystems resilience. Includes an introduction to working across scales to project soil biogeochemical responses to climatic change. Multi Scale Biogeochemical Processes in Soil Ecosystems
