- Federal system, powers are divided between the federal government and state governments. The federal government typically has authority over matters such as national defense, foreign policy, and currency regulation while state governments have authority over state law enforcement, transportation, and tax enforcement. However, both levels of government have some common powers, such as taxation and judicial review, and neither has the authority to nullify laws made by the other through mechanisms like judicial review.
22. The state government plays a significant role in the legislative process by having the power to pass or veto bills passed by the state legislature. The governor can also propose legislation, submit the State of the State address outlining policies, and call special legislative sessions. However, the state legislature, composed of members

Reimagining Nigeria's Educational System Joseph A. Balogun,2023-09-20

This book assesses the challenges within the Nigerian educational system and provides a concrete plan to revitalize the low performing system by strengthening high stakes testing at all levels In Nigeria many citizens believe that the solution to the country s low performance in education is to eliminate high stakes standardized testing High stakes testing refers to applying standardized student achievement tests as a primary mechanism to evaluate students teachers and their school s performance This book argues that the poor quality of education and low ranking of Nigeria s educational system is not related to the negative consequences of high stakes testing but rather is due to many intrinsic factors By conducting a comparative analysis of six high performing education systems worldwide the book offers a comparative summative evaluation of the educational system and offers recommendations This book will be of interest to policymakers and scholars in the fields of African education higher education quality and global studies African studies management and administration leadership and professional development studies Joseph Abiodun Balogun is former Dean and retired Distinguished University Professor at the College of Health Sciences Chicago State University USA Visiting Professor Program Consultant at the Centre of Excellence in Reproductive Health Innovation University of Benin Nigeria and President CEO Joseph Rehabilitation Center Tinley Park Illinois USA

Unwarranted Barry Friedman, 2017-02-21 In June 2013 documents leaked by Edward Snowden sparked widespread debate about secret government surveillance of Americans Just over a year later the shooting of Michael Brown a black teenager in Ferguson Missouri set off protests and triggered concern about militarization and discriminatory policing In Unwarranted Barry Friedman argues that these two seemingly disparate events are connected and that the problem is not so much the policing agencies as it is the rest of us We allow these agencies to operate in secret and to decide how to police us rather than calling the shots ourselves The courts have let us down entirely Unwarranted is filled with stories of ordinary people whose lives were sundered by policing gone awry Driven by technology policing has changed dramatically from cops seeking out bad guys to mass surveillance of all of society backed by an increasingly militarized capability Friedman captures this new eerie environment in which CCTV location tracking and predictive policing has made us all suspects while proliferating SWAT teams and increased use of force puts everyone at risk Police play an indispensable role in our society But left under regulated by us and unchecked by the courts our lives liberties and property are at peril Unwarranted is a vital timely intervention in debates about policing a call to take responsibility for governing those who govern us
