Multilingual classroom contexts Christa van der Walt,Verbra Pfeiffer,2021-12-01 By far the majority of South African students get their schooling in a second language which means that our classrooms are multilingual This state of affairs is not exclusive to our country as can be seen in the many academic conferences on multilingual learning and teaching Terms like translanguaging and biliteracy appear in many articles and books that discuss the role language in education What makes the multilingual nature of our South African classrooms challenging is the fact that many learners switch from one language of learning and teaching to another at various points in their school career from home language to English or Afrikaans after the foundation phase from one language of learning and teaching to another when they move to new schools high school or tertiary institutions This book is an attempt to highlight the transitions from home to school from foundation to intermediate phase from primary to high school and from high school to tertiary institutions Critical Issues in South African Education Charl C. Wolhuter,2020-12-31 The main thesis of this book is that given that South African education faces major challenges the BRICS Brazil Russia India China and South Africa constellation of states offers thus far overlooked a valuable tertium comparationis a source of international comparative perspectives to inform the domestic scholarly discourse on education This book first investigates the national contexts and development of education in the BRICS countries arguing that this grouping represents a valuable but yet overlooked field for illuminating South African education issues with international perspectives The book consists of chapters arguing for and illustrating this thesis from a variety of angles Common to all chapters is that authors used the comparative method in education that is comparing the national education system in their education societal context interrelationships of the BRICS countries The chapters focus on a number of critical issues in South African education including the language of learning and teaching issue the alignment of the world of education with the world of work early childhood education and the development of world class universities Regarding the last for example China has been the terrain of the most intensive national projects of establishing world class universities with Project 985 Project 211 and the Double First Class University project The chapters demonstrate what South Africa in approaching her education issues can learn from the experience of the BRICS countries Translanguaging, Coloniality and Decolonial Cracks Robyn Tyler,2023-01-13 In this linguistic ethnography of bilingual science learning in a South African high school the author connects microanalyses of classroom discourse to broader themes of de coloniality in education The book challenges the deficit narrative often used to characterise the capabilities of linguistically minoritised youth and explores the challenges and opportunities associated with leveraging students full semiotic repertoires in learning specific concepts The author examines the linguistic landscape of the school and the beliefs and attitudes of staff and students which produce both coloniality and cracks in the edifice of coloniality A critical translanguaging lens is applied to analyse multilingual and multimodal aspects of students science meaning making in a traditional classroom and a study group intervention Finally the book suggests implications for decolonial pedagogical translanguaging in Southern multilingual classrooms

Public Examinations Examined Thomas Kellaghan,Vincent Greaney,2019-11-19 High stakes public examinations exert a dominant influence in most education systems They affect both teacher and student behavior especially at the middle and upper levels of secondary education The content of past examinations tends to dictate what is taught and how it is taught and more important what is learned and how it is learned By changing aspects of these examinations especially their content and format education systems can have a strong positive impact on teacher behavior and student learning help raise student achievement levels and better prepare students for tertiary level education and for employment Examination agencies many of which have followed the same procedures over decades can learn from the successes and failures of other systems This book addresses current issues related to the development administration scoring and usage of these high stakes public examinations identifying key issues and problems related to examinations in many emerging market economies as well as in advanced economies The book s primary audience consists of public examination officials on national regional and state examination boards but the book should also be of interest to senior education policy makers concerned with certification and learning achievement standards to academics and researchers interested in educational assessment to governmental and education agencies responsible for student selection and to professionals at development organizations This extremely well written and comprehensive book offers a timely review of the diversity of public examination practices worldwide of the tensions between examinations and learning and of the technical expertise involved in the creation of valid reliable and fair assessments It reminds us that as the diploma disease takes hold with an ever greater intensity at every stage of education worldwide and the commercial business of testing flourishes those concerned with educational quality and meaningful learning must be on guard to prevent the assessment tail wagging the educational dog Angela W Little Professor Emerita Institute of Education University College London This book is very well structured and written and draws on the authors remarkable global knowledge across countries and histories It will be a great asset both to administrators responsible for examinations and to academics and other professionals who seek to understand the nature and impact of examinations of different types and in different settings Mark Bray UNESCO Chair Professor of Comparative Education University of Hong Kong and former Director UNESCO International Institute for Educational Planning I am sure that Public Examinations Examined which thoroughly analyzes the practice of public examinations in different countries and makes profound and well grounded conclusions will arouse very great interest and will serve to further improve public examinations Victor Bolotov Distinguished Professor Higher School of Economics National Research University Moscow member Russian Academy of Education and former Deputy Minister of Education Russian Federation

Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman,John Read,Theo du Plessis,2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience

Handbook of Literacy in Diglossia and in Dialectal Contexts Elinor Saiegh-Haddad, Lior Laks, Catherine McBride, 2022-03-14 This volume is the first published collection of papers on the impact of diglossia and dialectal variations on language and literacy acquisition impairment and education The authors are pioneering in this field and are leading researchers with substantial experience in conducting research in this area A wide range of areas and languages are covered including the US South Africa Israel and various European countries The chapters present novel data and insights regarding the role of dialectal variations on language and literacy from a wide range of countries and perspectives These insights have significant theoretical and practical implications A majority of literacy learners worldwide are taught to read and write in a language variety or a dialect that is not the same as their spoken language Not only is this the global norm but it is probably also the greatest obstacle to literacy learning This volume is the first published collection of papers on the role of dialect in language and literacy acquisition impairment and education in a variety of languages and situations across Europe the Middle East North America Africa and Asia The authors are pioneers in this field

Multilingualism in Mathematics Education in Africa Anthony A. Essien, 2023-12-14 This book brings together the first book collection of African research in mathematics education in multilingual societies and chronicles current research in different linguistic contexts across the African continent including Algeria Namibia Malawi Morocco Rwanda South Africa on issues of multilingualism in mathematics education but more importantly it foregrounds pertinent issues for future research

With many of the authors building on earlier path breaking African research the book is a unique contribution of careful thinking through how linguistic diversity and multilingualism manifest in ways that differ from one geopolitical context to another This volume is an important contribution to the growing recognition of multilingualism as the global linguistic dispensation in mathematics education It is an invitation to how we might as an international community where more and more multilingualism is the norm rather than an exception pay more attention to the multilingual agency and capabilities of both students and teachers in order to better harness the epistemic potential of multiple languages in contexts of language diversity in mathematics education
