Scott C. Dulebohn

2015 2016 Forms Machakos University:

Impact of Global University Ranking Systems on Developing Countries Onyancha, Omwoyo Bosire, Tella, Adeyinka, 2023-06-01 The emotive discourses on the subject of university rankings are directly linked to the effect of such rankings on the performance of universities throughout the world. It has been observed that the top ranked universities attract major financial commitments from the industry, the best students, quality researchers, and a wide range of other quality endowments such as equipment, libraries, and laboratories. It is not surprising that the ranking of universities has gained popularity and become a significant factor shaping not only the reputation of universities but also the performance of said institutions around the world, including the developing countries. Impact of Global University Ranking Systems on Developing Countries presents a collection of perspectives from scholars and other stakeholders on the impact of the global ranking systems on developing countries. The book is an additional resource for discussion and discourse as far as the global university ranking systems are concerned and opens new frontiers for further research. Covering key topics such as assessment, ethics, and academic freedom, this premier reference source is ideal for administrators, policymakers, researchers, scholars, academicians, practitioners, instructors, and students. Teaching and Learning Strategies for Sustainable Development Enakshi Sengupta, Patrick Blessinger, Taisir Subhi Yamin, 2020-05-27 This timely book explores the sustainable development goals, how well universities have been able to integrate them into their curriculum, and how universities can institutionalize the goals and sustainable development into their strategic plans and institutional culture. Green Development Bill Adams, 2019-12-05 The concept of sustainability lies at the core of the challenge of environment and development, and the way governments, business, and environmental groups respond to it. Green Development provides a clear and coherent analysis of sustainable development in both theory and practice. Green Development explores the origins and evolution of mainstream thinking about sustainable development and offers a critique of the ideas behind them. It draws a link between theory and practice by discussing the nature of the environmental degradation and the impacts of development. It argues that ultimately green development has to be about political economy, about the distribution of power, and not about environmental quality. Its focus is strongly on the developing world. The fourth edition retains the broad structure of previous editions but has been updated to reflect advances in ideas and changes in international policy. Greater attention has been given to the political ecology of development, market-based, and neoliberal environmentalism and degrowth. This fully revised edition discusses the origins of thinking about sustainability and sustainable development and its evolution to the present day, the ideas that dominate mainstream sustainable development, including natural capital, the green economy, market environmentalism, and ecological modernisation, critiques of mainstream ideas, and of neoliberal framings of sustainability, and alternative ideas about sustainability that challenge business as usual thinking, such as arguments about limits to growth and calls for degrowth, the dilemmas of sustainability in the context of forests, desertification, food, and farming biodiversity.

conservation and dam construction the challenge of policy choices about sustainability particularly between reformist and radical responses to the contemporary global dilemmas Green Development offers clear insights into the challenges of environmental sustainability and social and economic development It is unique in offering a synthesis of theoretical ideas on sustainability and in its coverage of the extensive literature on environment and development around the world The book has proved its value to generations of students as an authoritative thought provoking and readable guide to the field of sustainable development

Edutainment, gender and intra-household decision-making in agriculture: A field experiment in Kenya Aju, Stellamaris,Kramer, Berber,Waithaka, Lilian,2022-12-30

Oftentimes a man's opinion is valued over a woman's with women expected to take a back seat when decisions are made in their households and in society Kwarazuka et al 2019 Such social norms create unequal participation between female and male smallholder farmers in African agriculture Additionally it puts women in positions where they can be abused and tolerate abuse especially by their spouses This is a threat to women's empowerment increasing gender gaps in society and within families It is therefore imperative to address societal norms that do not allow a level playing ground for both sexes in agriculture
