Worktown David Hall,2015-08-13 In the late 1930s the Lancashire town of Bolton witnessed a ground breaking social experiment Over three years a team of ninety observers recorded in painstaking detail the everyday lives of ordinary working people at work and play in the pub dance hall factory and on holiday Their aim was to create an anthropology of ourselves The first of its kind it later grew into the Mass Observation movement that proved so crucial to our understanding of public opinion in future generations The project attracted a cast of larger than life characters not least its founders the charismatic and unconventional anthropologist Tom Harrisson and the surrealist intellectuals Charles Madge and Humphrey Jennings They were joined by a disparate band of men and women students artists writers and photographers unemployed workers and local volunteers who worked tirelessly to turn the idle pleasure of people watching into a science Drawing on their vivid reports photographs and first hand sources David Hall relates the extraordinary story of this eccentric short lived but hugely influential project Along the way he creates a richly detailed fascinating portrait of a lost chapter of British social history and of the life of an industrial northern town before the world changed for ever Aging Veterans with Disabilities Arie Rimmerman,2020-10-15 The number of older war veterans receiving disability benefits is steadily growing and is predicted to rise in the next decade This book provides comprehensive knowledge about health and psychosocial concerns of veterans aging with disabilities and unmet needs and compares policy in three countries that have been involved in massive warfare in the 20th century the United Kingdom UK the United States US and Israel Using a cross national comparative study of the policies legislation and services provided by these three countries which have significant numbers of aging disabled military veterans this book provides evidence based knowledge on the trajectories and attendant mental health and psychosocial problems this sub group faces when aging with a disability It sheds light on the paradox in which most veterans with disabilities in the UK USA and Israel are older while the current legislation and budget target younger veterans with disabilities The book reflects the current debate regarding the desired policy toward older veterans with disabilities in these countries and whether to provide them with proactive health services prior to retirement to prevent accelerated aging It also evaluates the dilemma of whether to serve aging veterans separately as a unique population or to provide them with the same services used by the general population This book will be of interest to all academics and students working in disability studies rehabilitation studies gerontology psychology sociology social work social policy and law more broadly Classical Rhetoric in the Middle Ages John O. Ward,2018-12-24 Classical Rhetoric in the Middle Ages The Medieval Rhetors and Their Art 400 1300 with Manuscript Survey to 1500 CE is a completely updated version of John Ward s much used doctoral thesis of 1972 and is the definitive treatment of this fundamental aspect of medieval and rhetorical culture It is commonly believed that medieval writers were interested only in Christian truth not in Graeco Roman methods of persuasion to whatever viewpoint the speaker writer wanted Dr Ward however investigates the content of well over one thousand medieval manuscripts and shows that medieval writers were fully conscious of and much dependent upon Graeco Roman rhetorical methods of persuasion The volume then demonstrates why and to what purpose this use of classical rhetoric took place Code of Federal Regulations ,2015 Special edition of the Federal Register containing a codification of documents of general applicability and future effect with ancillaries The Oxford Handbook of Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology Thomas H. Ollendick,Susan Williams White,Bradley A.
