Beaumont, 2025-02-11 Lifestyle sports have witnessed unprecedented growth in recent years with it being accepted that these activities can contribute significantly to national sport and physical activity agendas appeal to contemporary youth culture and provide an alternative to mainstream achievement sports within school physical education. However, this popularity has led to increased professionalisation and institutionalisation meaning there is now a demand for educated teachers and coaches to facilitate learning through effective pedagogical approaches. Consequently, Teaching and Coaching Lifestyle Sports: Research and Practice is the first book of its kind to provide both theoretical and empirical insights into the process and practice of teaching and coaching lifestyle sports across school, community and high performance sport contexts. Drawing upon a variety of lifestyle sports including skateboarding, freestyle BMX, parkour and freeskiing, this book develops readers' understanding and conceptualisation of the issues, challenges and opportunities associated with teaching and coaching lifestyle sports. Each chapter, grouped via a broad focus on either teaching or coaching, offers novel perspectives towards current trends, pedagogical approaches and steps forward in relation to lifestyle sports within physical education and sport coaching. This book covers contemporary and important topics within lifestyle sports such as coach development, enhancing youth sport participation, facilitating athlete learning and creating a meaningful physical education experience. Drawing upon global examples, each chapter generates new knowledge associated with the teaching and coaching of lifestyle sports while critically discussing areas for future research alongside practical implications for teachers, coaches and sports organisations. Teaching and Coaching Lifestyle Sports: Research and Practice is a valuable resource for researchers and academics in addition to students and practitioners who are currently working across the overlapping fields of physical education, sport coaching, sport development and leisure studies or have an interest in lifestyle sports.

Psychological perspectives on expertise Guillermo Campitelli, Michael H Connors, Merim Bilalić, David Zachary Hambrick, 2015-05-19 Experts are persons who are very knowledgeable about or skillful in a particular area The aim of this Research Topic is to advance knowledge in the understanding of the phenomenon of expertise by putting together different lines of research that directly or indirectly study expertise Herbert Simon's expertise studies initiated two lines of research. One is interested in elucidating the cognitive processes underlying expertise and the other investigates how expertise develops. These lines of research started with studies comparing experts and novices in chess and then they extended to numerous areas of expertise such as music, medical diagnosis, sports, arts, and sciences. In the field of judgment and decision making, researchers investigate the quality of judgments and decisions of experts in different professions, e.g., clinical psychologists, medical practitioners, judges, meteorologists, stock brokers. Those lines of research explicitly investigate the topic of expertise, but there are other research areas that make a substantial contribution to understanding expertise. Scholars in language acquisition and in face perception, for example, investigate cognitive processes and development of expertise in areas in which almost everyone becomes an expert. Furthermore, skill acquisition research informs in detail about short-term cognitive changes that may be important to understand how expertise develops. We are interested in original research that advances knowledge in the understanding of decision-making cognitive processes and development of expertise in sports, intellectual games, arts, scientific disciplines, and professions, as well as expertise in cognitive abilities such as perception, memory, attention, language, and imagery. We are also interested in theoretical articles in any of these areas, articles that describe computational or mathematical models of expertise, and articles offering a framework that would guide expertise research. Articles that offer integrative approaches of some of the areas described above are strongly encouraged. The goal of this Research Topic is to produce a hallmark piece of work in the field of expertise which complements and does not overlap with the Neural implementations of expertise Research Topic in Frontiers in Human Neuroscience.
