Building Blueprint

Quick Analysis

Designers normally use paper templates, and even traditional Twitter templates. However, these are usually representations of what you may wish to create. They are not the actual design. This document is the design itself. It is the design that you will use to create your design.

1. Research the problem or situation and your responsibility to create the design.

2. Create a design that meets the needs of the problem and your responsibility to create the design.

3. Create a design that meets the needs of the problem and your responsibility to create the design.
