A System's Evaluation of Global History of Indian Architecture Joy Sen,2016-12-02 Deep within an inner cave guhahitam of our existence remains our potential Divinity It is the place where our reflected sentient being the First Bird is trying to probe into to recover the hidden sun The allegory is evident in the parable of the Cave once preached by the Upanishads and later by the Greek philosopher Plato The probe is to push forward the First Bird to surge higher in the resplendent celestial blue under the full radiance of the Solar world which is the Second resulting in an explosion of an infinite all pervading Divinity Till the union and the rapture is attained there are the two Birds one the psychic being which is within us and the other one which is the direct portion of the Divine The direct portion is constantly trying to guide and work within us so that evolution goes on and on In the words of Sri Aurobindo it is the haitya Purusha the direct portion of the Divine in the human which is working incessantly till the rapture is activated Ancient roots are evident in the ancient Swetaswatara Upanishad hailed by the primordial Sage Kapila and coded originally in a later text called the Bhagabat Purana The haitya Purusha is also the being that is behind the Chitta Sri Aurobindo says Millenniums later the inspired Architects in the most ancient of all Buddhist ages had carved out the sacred idea in form of rock cut expressions called the Chaitya hall

As the Mahayana Sutra of the foremost Shurangama at the Crown of the Great Buddha says the way of practicing the Samadhi is not singular and its actual method of cultivation depends upon the functioning of mind and mental concomitants Citta Chaitya pravritti of each being and their interconnectedness Mahat It is in the recovery or a re tracing of the two as a DIVINITY that is originally ONE an individual s journey called evolution and a collective journey called civilization itself are sustained It is also from the deeper embedded patterns of this journey the gems of the system s foundation can be quarried

F. Denno,H. Dingle,2012-12-06 This volume results from a symposium entitled Species and Ufe History Patterns Geographic and Habitat Variation held during the National Meeting of the Entomo logical Society of America in Denver Colorado USA in November 1979 The stimu lus to assemble papers on this theme emerged from continuing discussions with col leagues concerning controversies in ecology and evolutionary biology namely those associated with plant herbivore interactions life history theory and the equilibrium status of communities The study organisms used in this series of reports are all either herbivorous insects or those intimately associated with plants In this volume we stress the variation found in life history traits and address some of the problems inherent in current life history theory We include as life history traits not only traditional variables such as fecundity size of young and age to first and peak reproduction but also diapause and migration traits that synchronize reproduction with favorable plant resources Because life history traits of phytophagous insects are influenced in part by spatial and temporal variation in the quality and availability of their host plants we also consider the role that dis continuities in plant quality play in reducing insect fitness Lastly much of the tra ditional life history theory concerns itself with differences between the evolution of traits or constellations of traits when populations incur primarily density independent compared to density dependent mortality Consequently we address this issue and attempt to shed light on the equilibrium status of several phytophagous insect communities

Bruce Lesh,2023-10-10 Every major measure of students historical understanding since 1917 has demonstrated that students do not retain understand or enjoy their school experiences with history Bruce Lesh believes that this is due to the way we teach history lecture and memorization Over the last fifteen years Bruce has refined a method of teaching history that mirrors the process used by historians where students are taught to ask questions of evidence and develop historical explanations And now in his new book Why Won't You Just Tell Us the Answer he shows teachers how to successfully implement his methods in the classroom Students may think they want to be given the answer Yet when they are actively engaged in investigating the past the way professional historians do they find that history class is not about the boring memorization of names dates and facts Instead it's challenging fun Historical study that centers on a question where students gather a variety of historical sources and then develop and defend their answers to that question allows students to become actual historians immersed in an interpretive study of the past Each chapter focuses on a key concept in understanding history and then offers a sample unit on how the concept can be taught Readers will learn about the following Exploring Text Subtext and Context President Theodore Roosevelt and the Panama Canal Chronological Thinking and Causality The Rail Strike of 1877 Multiple Perspectives The Bonus March of 1932 Continuity and Change Over Time Custer's Last Stand Historical Significance The Civil Rights Movement Historical Empathy The Truman MacArthur Debate By the end of the book teachers will have learned how to teach history via a lens of interpretive questions and interrogative evidence that allows both student and teacher to develop evidence based answers to history's greatest questions
