Business Logistics P. van Buijtenen, M. Christopher, G. Wills, 2012-12-06 Business logistics has recently been defined as the process of managing all activities required to strategically move raw materials parts and finished inventory from vendors between enterprise facilities and to customers Many other definitions are available but this definition 1 stresses the fact that logistics concerns the strategical management level in the first place because of the overall character of logistics and its long term aspects too long emphasis has been laid on the operational aspects of logistics The heart of the logistics concept is an integrated approach where cost savings are identified by considering the total costs of the system This approach already implies the need for overall management since the decisions about the different elements of the logistics system transportation inventories facilities unitization communications are traditionally made within different functions or departments However the need for overall management becomes more stringent where the effectiveness of the company as a whole is considered i.e. where the logistics system has to be brought into balance with the production system and the marketing system e.g. inventory levels vs production run lengths and customer service levels All elements of the logistics system have long term aspects which have to be put into a planning system e.g. the planning of a new transportation method the planning of a new distribution centre Enterprise Information Systems II B. Sharp, Joaquim Filipe, José Cordeiro, 2013-11-11 This book comprises the refereed papers together with the invited keynote papers presented at the Second International Conference on Enterprise Information Systems The conference was organised by the School of Computing at Staffordshire University UK and the Escola Superior de Tecnologia de Setúbal Portugal in cooperation with the British Computer Society and the International Federation for Information Processing Working Group 8.1 The purpose of this

2nd International Conference was to bring together researchers engineers and practitioners interested in the advances in and business applications of information systems The papers demonstrate the vitality and vibrancy of the field of Enterprise Information Systems The research papers included here were selected from among 143 submissions from 32 countries in the following four areas Enterprise Database Applications Artificial Intelligence Applications and Decision Support Systems Systems Analysis and Specification and Internet and Electronic Commerce Every paper had at least two reVIewers drawn from 10 countries The papers included in this book were recommended by the reviewers On behalf of the conference organising committee we would like to thank all the members of the Programme Committee for their work in reviewing and selecting the papers that appear in this volume We would also like to thank all the authors who have submitted their papers to this conference and would like to apologise to the authors that we were unable to include and wish them success next year
