

Executive Summary: Standards of Medical Care in Diabetes—2013

Current criteria for the diagnosis of diabetes

- A1C  $\geq 6.5\%$ . The test should be performed in a laboratory using a method that is NGSP-certified and standardized to the Diabetes Control and Complications Trial (DCCT) assay; or
- fasting plasma glucose (FPG)  $\geq 126$  mg/dL (7.0 mmol/L). Fasting is defined as no caloric intake for at least 8 h; or
- 2-h plasma glucose  $\geq 200$  mg/dL (11.1 mmol/L) during an oral glucose tolerance test (OGTT). The test should be performed as described by the World Health Organization, using a glucose load containing the equivalent of 75 g anhydrous glucose dissolved in water; or
- in a patient with classic symptoms of hyperglycemia or hyperglycemic crisis, a random plasma glucose  $\geq 200$  mg/dL (11.1 mmol/L);
- in the absence of unequivocal hyperglycemia, result should be confirmed by repeat testing.

Testing for diabetes in asymptomatic patients

- Testing to detect type 2 diabetes and prediabetes in asymptomatic people should be considered in adults of any age who are overweight or obese ( $\text{BMI} \geq 25 \text{ kg/m}^2$ ) and who have one or more additional risk factors for diabetes (see Table 4 of the "Standards of Medical Care in Diabetes—2013"). In those without these risk factors, testing should begin at age 45 years. (B)
- If tests are normal, repeat testing at least at 3-year intervals is reasonable. (E)
- To test for diabetes or prediabetes, the A1C, FPG, or 75-g 2-h OGTT are appropriate. (B)
- In those identified with prediabetes, identify and, if appropriate, treat other cardiovascular disease (CVD) risk factors. (B)

Screening for type 2 diabetes in children

- Testing to detect type 2 diabetes and prediabetes should be considered in children and adolescents who are overweight and who have two or more additional risk factors for diabetes (see Table 5 of the "Standards of Medical Care in Diabetes—2013"). (E)

Screening for type 1 diabetes

- Consider referring relatives of those with type 1 diabetes for antibody testing for risk assessment in the setting of a clinical research study. (E)

Detection and diagnosis of gestational diabetes mellitus

- Screen for undiagnosed type 2 diabetes at the first prenatal visit in those with risk factors, using standard diagnostic criteria. (B)
- In pregnant women not previously known to have diabetes, screen for gestational diabetes mellitus (GDM) at 24–28 weeks of gestation, using a 75-g 2-h OGTT and the diagnostic cut points in Table 6 of the "Standards of Medical Care in Diabetes—2013." (B)
- Screen women with GDM for persistent diabetes at 6–12 weeks postpartum, using the OGTT and nonpregnancy diagnostic criteria. (E)
- Women with a history of GDM should have lifelong screening for the development of diabetes or prediabetes at least every 3 years. (B)
- Women with a history of GDM found to have prediabetes should receive lifestyle interventions or metformin to prevent diabetes. (A)

Prevention/delay of type 2 diabetes

- Patients with impaired glucose tolerance (IGT) (A), impaired fasting glucose

(IFG) (E), or an A1C 5.7–6.4% (E) should be referred to an effective ongoing support program targeting weight loss of 7% of body weight and increasing physical activity to at least 150 min/week of moderate activity such as walking.

- Follow-up counseling appears to be important for success. (B)
- Based on the cost-effectiveness of diabetes prevention, such programs should be covered by third-party payers. (B)
- Metformin therapy for prevention of type 2 diabetes may be considered in those with IGT (A), IFG (E), or an A1C 5.7–6.4% (E), especially for those with  $\text{BMI} > 35 \text{ kg/m}^2$ , aged  $< 60$  years, and women with prior GDM. (A)
- At least annual monitoring for the development of diabetes in those with prediabetes is suggested. (E)
- Screening for and treatment of modifiable risk factors for CVD is suggested. (B)

Glucose monitoring

- Patients on multiple-dose insulin (MDI) or insulin pump therapy should do self-monitoring of blood glucose (SMBG) at least prior to meals and snacks, occasionally postprandially, at bedtime, prior to exercise, when they suspect low blood glucose, after treating low blood glucose until they are normoglycemic, and prior to critical tasks such as driving. (B)
- When prescribed as part of a broader educational context, SMBG results may be helpful to guide treatment decisions and/or patient self-management for patients using less frequent insulin injections or noninsulin therapies. (E)
- When prescribing SMBG, ensure that patients receive ongoing instruction and regular evaluation of SMBG technique and SMBG results, as well as their ability to use SMBG data to adjust therapy. (E)
- Continuous glucose monitoring (CGM) in conjunction with intensive insulin regimens can be a useful tool to lower A1C in selected adults (aged  $\geq 25$  years) with type 1 diabetes. (A)
- Although the evidence for A1C lowering is less strong in children, teens, and
