Analytical Procedures for Determining the Impacts of Reliability Mitigation Strategies ,2013 Reliability of transport especially the ability to reach a destination within a certain amount of time is a regular concern of travelers and shippers The definition of reliability used in this research is how travel time varies over time The variability can apply to the travel times observed over a road segment during a specific time slice e g 3 to 6 p m over a fairly long period of time say a year The variability can also pertain to the travel times of repeated trips made by a person or a truck between a given origin and destination Agencies are increasingly aware of the issue of reliability although the transportation industry as a whole as yet lacks a firm understanding of the causes and solutions to failures of reliability As the agenda for the SHRP 2 research on travel time reliability took shape it became clear a fundamental study was required to be able to talk about travel time reliability in a meaningful way Foreword

Policing the Global South Danielle Watson,Sara N. Amin,Wendell C. Wallace,Oluwagbenga (Michael) Akinlabi,Juan Carlos Ruiz-Vásquez,2022-11-11 Policing the Global South provides scholarship which further transnationalises and democratises ideas about policing practices and philosophies highlighting renovations in approaches to policing studies and injecting innovative perspectives into the study of policing from scholars positioned on the periphery Criminological knowledge depolarisation underscores a conscious effort by scholars from the Global South to increase intellectual knowledge focused on developing context specific responses to issues not aligned to Northern ideological positions and specific to the non Northern context Such shifts draw attention to the expanse of spaces beyond Northern centres rife with challenges unlike any specific to those experienced or conceptualised by scholars from the Global North with an applied Northern criminological lens Applying a postcolonial lens to empirical knowledge from country specific cases in former colonies in Africa Asia the Caribbean the Pacific and Latin America this book examines how policing issues not aligned to Northern ideological positions and specific to non Northern contexts are addressed The primary purpose is to share innovations in the field of policing service provision threats to security crime responses justice and international trends developed in postcolonial developing country contexts Given the aim of the book and the contributors own research on issues of policing across the globe it discusses themes including but not limited to the colonial legacies and their impact on policing how plural regulatory systems and partnerships are navigated by the police the linkages between access to justice community perceptions and police legitimacy innovations and challenges in organisational reform crime prevention and community partnerships and the expanding roles of police organisations in the Global South While each chapter presents a policing issue in a country within a specific part of the Global South the book highlights how important it is to frame responses based on contextual realities informed by an awareness of the past and present with a goal of informing the future Delivering a much needed introduction to those specialising in policing in developing countries this book is invaluable reading for academics and students of criminology criminal justice governance policy and IR as well as professionals in policing organizations across the globe
