Never before published photos present then and now views in this first of its kind guided tour for film location hunters and Wayne aficionados. Killing John Wayne Ryan Uytendewilligen, 2021-10-01. Behold the history of a film so scandalous, so outrageous, so explosive it disappeared from print for over a quarter century. A film so dangerous half its cast and crew met their demise, bringing eccentric billionaire Howard Hughes' final cinematic vision to life. Starring All American legend John Wayne in full Fu Manchu make-up as Mongol madman Genghis Khan. Featuring sultry seductress Susan Hayward as his lover. This is the true story of The Conqueror 1956, the worst movie ever made. Filmed during the dark underbelly of the 1950s, the Cold War, when nuclear testing in desolate southwestern landscapes was a must for survival, the very same landscapes were where exotic stories set in faraway lands could be made. Just 153 miles from the St George Utah set, nuclear bombs were detonated regularly at Yucca Flat and Frenchman Flat in Nevada, providing a bizarre and possibly deadly background to an already surreal moment in cinema history. This book tells the full story of the making of The Conqueror, its ignominious aftermath, and the radiation-induced cancer that may have killed John Wayne and many others.

Hollywood and the Great Depression Iwan Morgan, 2016-10-27. Examines how Hollywood responded to and reflected the political and social changes that America experienced during the 1930s. In the popular imagination, 1930s Hollywood was a dream factory producing escapist movies to distract the American people from the greatest economic crisis in their nation's history. But while many films of the period conform to this stereotype, there were a significant number that promoted a message, either explicitly or implicitly, in support of the political, social, and economic change broadly associated with President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal programme. At the same time, Hollywood was in the forefront of challenging traditional gender roles, both in terms of movie representations of women and the role of women within the studio system. With case studies of actors like Shirley Temple, Cary Grant, and Fred Astaire, as well as a selection of films that reflect politics and society in the Depression decade, this fascinating book examines how the challenges of the Great Depression impacted on Hollywood and how it responded to them. Topics covered include: How Hollywood offered positive representations of working women; Congressional investigations of big studio monopolization over movie distribution; How three different types of musical genres related in different ways to the Great Depression: the Warner Bros. Great Depression Musicals of 1933, the Astaire-Rogers movies, and the MGM kid musicals of the late 1930s; The problems of independent production exemplified in King Vidor's Our Daily Bread; Cary Grant's success in developing a debonair screen persona amid Depression conditions; Contributors: Harvey G. Cohen, King's College London; Philip John Davies, British Library; David Eldridge, University of Hull; Peter William Evans, Queen Mary University of London; Mark Glancy, Queen Mary University of London; Ina Rae Hark, University of South Carolina; Iwan Morgan, University College London; Brian Neve, University of Bath; Ian Scott, University of Manchester; Anna
