African Literatures as World Literature Alexander Fyfe, Madhu Krishnan, 2022-11-03 The enormous success of writers such as Teju Cole and Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie demonstrates that African literatures are now an international phenomenon But the apparent global legibility of a small number of mostly Anglophone writers in the diaspora raises the question of how literary producers from the continent both past and present have situated their work in relation to the world and the kinds of material networks to which this corresponds This collection shows how literatures from across the African continent engage with conceptualizations of the world in relation to local social and political issues Focusing on a wide variety of geographic historical and linguistic contexts the essays in this volume seek answers to the following questions What are the topographies of the world in different literary texts and traditions What are that world s limits boundaries and possibilities How do literary modes and forms such as realism narrative poetry or the political essay affect the presentation of worldliness What are the material networks of circulation that allow African literatures to become world literature African literatures it emerges do important theoretical work that speaks to the very core of world literary studies today

Grammatical and Sociolinguistic Aspects of Ethiopian Languages Derib Ado, Almaz Wasse Gelagay, Janne Bondi Johannessen, 2021-04-23 The focus of this unique publication is on Ethiopian languages and linguistics Not only major languages such as Amharic and Oromo receive attention but also lesser studied ones like Sezo and Nuer are dealt with The Gurage languages that often present a descriptive and sociolinguistic puzzle to researchers have received ample coverage And for the first time in the history of Ethiopian linguistics two chapters are dedicated to descriptive studies of Ethiopian Sign Language as well as two studies on acoustic phonetics Topics range over a wide spectrum of issues covering the lexicon sociolinguistics socio cultural aspects and micro linguistic studies on the phonology morphology and syntax of Ethiopian languages

Oral Literary Worlds Sara Marzagora, Francesca Orsini, 2025-01-31 The discipline of world literature has traditionally focused on written literatures particularly the novel with little emphasis placed on the unwritten verbal arts despite the significance of oral literary expressions around the world in the past as in the present This volume redresses this gap by putting the discipline of world literature into dialogue with scholarship on orature and folklore It asks what does world literature look like if we start from orature from oral texts and utterances and from the performances and audiences that support it Featuring contributions from an international array of scholars Oral Literary Worlds explores oral traditions from three multilingual regions the Maghreb East Africa and South Asia Essays discuss a variety of vernacular genres from Swahili tumbuizo to Na o folk songs shedding light on less studied forms of vernacular oral production Collectively the contributions critique the characterisation of oral traditions as static and pre modern and underscore the contemporary relevance of orature to cultural and political discourse Oral Literary Worlds offers a timely and accessible perspective on world literature through the lens of orature moving away from traditional hierarchies and dichotomies that have characterised previous scholarship It aims to open up new ways of thinking through local and transnational textual circulation literary power dynamics the interaction between textuality and audiences and aesthetic philosophies This volume will be an invaluable resource for scholars of world literature folklore and performance studies and will further interest teachers and students of popular culture literature of dissent and music

Literatures in African Languages B. W. Andrzejewski, S. Pilaszewicz, W. Tyloch, 1985-11-21 Although African literatures in English and French are widely known outside Africa those in the African languages themselves have not received comparable attention In this book a number have been selected for survey by fourteen specialist writers providing the reader with an introduction to this very wide field and a body of reference material which includes extensive bibliographies and biographical information on African authors

Theoretical issues such as genre divisions are discussed in the essays and the historical social and political forces at work in the creation and reception of African literature are examined Literature is treated as an art whose medium is language so that both the oral and written forms are encompassed This book will be of value not only to readers concerned with the cultures of Africa but to all those with an interest in the literary phenomena of the world in general

European-language Writing in Sub-Saharan Africa Albert S. Gérard, 1986-01-01 The first major comparative study of African writing in western languages European language Writing in Sub Saharan Africa edited by Albert S G rard falls into four wide ranging sections an overview of early contacts and colonial developments Under Western Eyes chapters on Black Consciousness manifest in the debates over Panafricanism and Negritude a group of essays on mental decolonization expressed in Black Power texts at the time of independence struggles and finally Comparative Vistas sketching directions that future comparative study might explore An introductory essay stresses the millennia of writing in Africa side by side with a richly eloquent and artistic set of vernacular oral traditions written and oral traditions have become interwoven in adaptations of imported forms and linguistic innovations that challenge traditional high literary norms G rard uses the mathematical concept of fuzzy sets to explain why the focus on Black Africa has led him to set aside for future analysis the literatures produced in North Africa which fall under the influence of Muslim civilization as well as the diasporic literatures of the New World Over sixty scholars from twenty two countries contribute specialized studies of creative writing by leading authors in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries such as Achebe Mphahlele Ngugi Senghor Soyinka and Tutuola Critical analyses are organized primarily around regions reflecting different colonial languages imposed through schools and other social institutions Some authors trace the adaptation of western genres others identify syncretism with folktales or myths The volumes are attentive to the heterogeneity of national literatures addressed to polyethnic and multilingual populations and they note the instrumental politics of language in newly independent states A closing chapter Tasks Ahead identifies areas for future scholars to explore
