Amy Summers has come to your office for advice regarding a debt repayment plan. Amy is a single mom who recently completed nursing school. Unfortunately, she supported herself and her child largely through use of debt while she was attending school and could work only part time. Now that she has finished school, she is earning enough to live comfortably and can put some extra money toward paying off her debts instead of just paying the minimum payments each month as she has been doing over the past several years. Amy would like you to help her develop a repayment plan that will achieve two specific goals: 1) minimize the amount of interest paid, and 2) pay off her debts as quickly as possible.

The following is a list of Amy's current debts. Amy believes that she can pay a total of $785 per month toward her debts.
