An Investigation of the Laws of Thought , on which are Founded the Mathematical Theories of Logic and Probabilities ,1854     An Investigation of the Laws of Thought George Boole,2007-05-01 A timeless introduction to the field and a landmark in symbolic logic showing that classical logic can be treated algebraically     An Investigation of the Laws of Thought George Boole,2014-08-07 This Is A New Release Of The Original 1854 Edition     An Investigation of the Laws of Thought George Boole,2019-12-20 The following work is not a republication of a former treatise by the Author entitled The Mathematical Analysis of Logic Its earlier portion is indeed devoted to the same object and it begins by establishing the same system of fundamental laws but its methods are more general and its range of applications far wider It exhibits the results matured by some years of study and reflection of a principle of investigation relating to the intellectual operations the previous exposition of which was written within a few weeks after its idea had been conceived     An Investigation of the Laws of Thought on which are Founded the Mathematical Theories of Logic and Probabilities by George Boole George Boole,1854     An Investigation of the Laws of Thought, on which are Founded the Mathematical Theorie of Logic and Probabilities, by George Boole,... George Boole,1854     An Investigation of the Laws of Thought George Boole,1979

An Investigation of the Laws of Thought George Boole,George Boole LL D,2013-06-03 The Laws of Thought more precisely An Investigation of the Laws of Thought on Which are Founded the Mathematical Theories of Logic and Probabilities was an influential 19th century book by George Boole the second of his two monographs on algebraic logic It was published in 1854 Boole was Professor of Mathematics of then Queen s College Cork in Ireland Boole s work founded the discipline of algebraic logic It is often but mistakenly credited as being the source of what we know today as Boolean algebra In fact however Boole s algebra differs from modern Boolean algebra in Boole s algebra  $A \cup B$  cannot be interpreted by set union due to the permissibility of uninterpretable terms in Boole s calculus Therefore algebras on Boole s account cannot be interpreted by sets under the operations of union intersection and complement as is the case with modern Boolean algebra The task of developing the modern account of Boolean algebra fell to Boole s successors in the tradition of algebraic logic Jevons 1869 Peirce 1880 Jevons 1890 Schr der 1890 Huntingdon 1904 In Boole s account of his algebra terms are reasoned about equationally without a systematic interpretation being assigned to them In places Boole talks of terms being interpreted by sets but he also recognises terms that cannot always be so interpreted such as the term  $2AB$  which arises in equational manipulations Such terms he classes uninterpretable terms although elsewhere he has some instances of such terms being interpreted by integers The coherences of the whole enterprise is justified by Boole in what Stanley Burris has later called the rule of 0s and 1s which justifies the claim that uninterpretable terms cannot be the ultimate result of equational manipulations from meaningful starting formulae Burris 2000 Boole provided no proof of this rule but the coherence of his system was proved by Theodore Hailperin who provided an interpretation based on a fairly simple construction of rings from the integers to provide an interpretation of Boole's theory Hailperin 1976      An Investigation of the Laws of Thought George Boole, 2018-11-27 An investigation of the laws of thought on which are founded the mathematical theories of logic and probabilities an unabridged edition A classic of pure mathematics and symbolic logic the publisher is to be thanked for making it available Scientific American George Boole was one of the greatest mathematicians of the 19th century and one of the most influential thinkers of all time Not only did he make important contributions to differential equations and calculus of finite differences he also was the discoverer of invariants and the founder of modern symbolic logic According to Bertrand Russell Pure mathematics was discovered by George Boole in his work published in 1854 This work is the first extensive statement of the modern view that mathematics is a pure deductive science that can be applied to various situations Boole first showed how classical logic could be treated with algebraic terminology and operations and then proceeded to a general symbolic method of logical inference he also attempted to devise a calculus of probabilities which could be applied to situations hitherto considered beyond investigation The following work is not a republication of a former treatise by the Author entitled The Mathematical Analysis of Logic Its earlier portion is indeed devoted to the same object and it begins by establishing the same system of fundamental laws but its methods are more general and its range of applications far wider It exhibits the results matured by some years of study and reflection of a principle of investigation relating to the intellectual operations the previous exposition of which was written within a few weeks after its idea had been conceived      An Investigation of the Laws of Thought George Boole, 2022-10-27 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant      An Investigation of the Laws of Thought George Boole, 2018-08-05 An Investigation of The Laws of Thought Large Print By George Boole Father of Boolean algebra George Boole published An Investigation of the Laws of Thought in 1854 His work is an investigation of the fundamental laws of human reasoning Further expanding upon ideas explored in earlier writings Using the symbolic language of mathematics Boole establishes a method by which the nature of the human mind may be examined using logic and the theory of probabilities Boole considers language not just a mode of expression but as a system by which one may understand the mind Certainly one of history's most insightful mathematicians Boole is compelling reading for any student of intellectual history We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience The Laws of Thought
