An Arabian Marriage Mills Boon Modern:

An Arabian Marriage Lynne Graham, 2007-07-01 Nanny Frederica Sutton was living happily with toddler Ben the son of her deceased cousin. But the minute that Jaspar Al Hasayn stalks into her apartment all smoldering gorgeousness and arrogance her happy little world is blown apart when she discovers that Ben is part of the Quamar royal lineage and a prince's son and she could lose him forever. When Jaspar's family decides to take matters into their own hands and kidnaps Ben, Freddy is both heartbroken and furious. If getting little Ben back means blackmailing Jaspar into marrying her, then so be it. As much as Freddy hates her cool-mannered new husband, there's something about his feral golden eyes and she finds herself returning to his bed night after ravenous night. Freddy's not just sleeping with the enemy; she's married to him.

Representing Difference in the Medieval and Modern Orientalist Romance Amy Burge, 2017-02-14 This book, the first full-length cross-period comparison of medieval and modern literature, offers cutting-edge research into the textual and cultural legacy of the Middle Ages, a significant and growing area of scholarship. At the juncture of literary, cultural, and gender studies and capitalizing on a renewed interest in popular western representations of the Islamic east, this book proffers innovative case studies on representations of cross-religious and cross-cultural romantic relationships in a selection of late medieval and twenty-first-century Orientalist popular romances. Comparing the tropes, characterization, and settings of these literary phenomena and focusing on gender, religion, and ethnicity, the study exposes the historical roots of current romance representations of the east, advancing research in Orientalism, neo-medievalism, and medieval cultural studies. Fundamentally, Representing Difference invites a closer look at medieval and modern popular attitudes towards the east as represented in romance and the kinds of solutions proposed for its apparent problems. An Arabian Courtship (Mills & Boon Modern)

Lynne Graham, 2015-01-01 Polly Barrington must uncover the true nature of her new husband. Because he's not the autocratic, arrogant, controlling man she thought she married for the sake of her family, instead Prince Raschid is breaking down the carefully constructed barriers around her heart, leaving her nowhere to hide. Hsu-Ming Teo, 2012-11-15 The Sheikh E. M. Hull's best-selling novel that became a wildly popular film starring Rudolph Valentino kindled sheik fever across the Western world in the 1920s. A craze for all things romantically Oriental swept through fashion, film, and literature, spawning imitations and parodies without number. While that fervor has largely subsided, tales of passion between Western women and Arab men continue to enthrall readers of today's mass-market romance novels. In this groundbreaking cultural history, Hsu Ming Teo traces the literary lineage of these desert romances and historical bodice rippers from the twelfth to the twenty-first century and explores the gendered cultural and political purposes that they have served at various historical moments Drawing on high literature erotica and popular romance fiction and films Teo examines the changing meanings of Orientalist tropes such as crusades and conversion abduction by Barbary pirates sexual slavery the fear of renegades the Oriental despot and his harem the figure of the powerful Western concubine and fantasies of escape from the harem She analyzes the impact of imperialism decolonization sexual liberation feminism and American involvement in the Middle East on women s Orientalist fiction Teo suggests that the rise of female authored romance novels dramatically transformed the nature of Orientalism because it feminized the discourse made white women central as producers consumers and imagined actors and revised reversed or collapsed the binaries inherent in traditional analyses of Orientalism
