cultural scrutiny This led to paradoxical forms of representation of marriage as simultaneously ideal and unlivable Chris Roulston analyzes how as representations of married life increased they challenged the traditional courtship model offering narratives based on repetition rather than progression Beginning with English and French marital advice literature which appropriated novelistic conventions at the same time that it cautioned readers about the dangers of novel reading she looks at representations of ideal marriages in Pamela II and The New Heloise Moving on from these ideal domestic spaces bourgeois marriage is then problematized by the discourse of empire in Sir George Ellison and Letters of Mistress Henley by troublesome wives in works by Richardson and Samuel de Constant and by abusive husbands in works by Haywood Edgeworth Genlis and Restif de la Bretonne Finally the alternative marriage narrative in which the adultery motif is incorporated into the marriage itself redefines the function of heteronormativity In exploring the theoretical issues that arise during this transitional period for married life and the marriage plot Roulston expands the debates around the evolution of the modern couple

Proctor,1990-10-24 This volume represents the first book length study of attitudes toward women in revolutionary France Based on extensive research in the libraries and archives of Paris the book examines the impact of the Revolution s ideology of liberty and equality When the men of 1789 wrote the Declaration of the Rights of Man they were thinking in terms of man the male not man the species But there were some men and women who interpreted it in terms of all humanity The outrage of these individuals over what they perceived as a discrepancy between the principles and the practice of the Revolution motivated them to produce some of the most unhesitating declarations of sexual equality that had ever been seen in history Dr Proctor demonstrates however these claims of equality were not simply ignored they were categorically rejected by the mainstream revolutionaries The book examines the typical 18th century concept of women as alien and in some ways inferior beings and traces the striking continuity between pre Revolutionary and Revolutionary thought on the subject Against this background Proctor addresses a number of important questions How widespread was the support for a movement in favor of sexual equality What was the response of the Revolution itself to demands for equal rights for women How did the men of the French Revolution justify the contradiction between their suppression of women and the ideologies for which they claimed to be fighting To arrive at the answers an abundance of material produced in France in the 18th century is identified and analyzed and cited in an extensive bibliography of original sources What finally emerges is not only a clearer picture of the French Revolution and its attitude toward women but a deeper understanding of the ambivalent attitudes toward women that still affect our society today This book will be an important resource for courses in European history the French Revolution and women s studies as well as a valuable reference for college university and public libraries Le Theatre ,1898 Bookseller's catalogues Thomas Arthur (bookseller.),1871
