Korieh,Ijeoma C. Nwajiaku,2022-04-12 Chinua Achebe and the Igbo African World

Between Fiction Fact and Historical Representation explores Chinua Achebe's literary works and how they communicated the Igbo African world to readers. Engaging in the politics of representation, Achebe sought to demystify deterministic views of race and cultural ethnocentrism. While his books and commentaries have been very influential in shaping a unique and multifaceted view of the African world, some scholars have challenged Achebe's representations of historical reality. Through in-depth analyses of his writing, contributors examine the interpretations Achebe imposed on African culture and history in his texts. The chapters cover Achebe's engagement with critical issues like historical representation, gender relations, and indigenous political institutions in a changing society. Throughout, contributors present new ways for understanding Achebe's literary works and show how his work draws from African historical reality and identity while challenging Western epistemological hegemony.

Inarticulacy in Creative Writing Practice and Translation Judy Kendall, 2025-03-20. An investigation into the powerful effects occurring at the threshold between articulation and inarticulation in original and translated works, this book models how creative writing research practice processes products and theories can further academic thought. At the threshold of inarticulacy, language can be said to thicken and obscure the usual conditions of legibility or lexical meaning, becoming unfamiliar, flexible, incomplete, even absent. These thickening moments alter and enrich literary processes and texts to initiate a paradigm shift in composition, translation, and reading experiences. Interrogating this shift from the viewpoints of writers, translators, and readers, Judy Kendall draws on translation studies, literary theory, anthropology, philosophy, and physics and more to examine the practices of Semantic Poetry Translation, code switching, made-up English, visual text, vital materiality, and the material discursive. Breaking new ground with her enactment of the ways in which creative writing can take an active and productive lead in research enquiries, Kendall looks at works including Old English riddles, Nigerian novels, J.R.R. Tolkien's and Ursula K. Le Guin's narratives, Caroline Bergvall's hybrid works, Caryl Churchill's The Skriker, Patrick Chamoiseau's novels Zong and several other visual texts.

Performing Afro-Cuba Kristina Wirtz, 2014-06-05. Visitors to Cuba will notice that Afro-Cuban figures and references are everywhere in popular music and folklore, shows, paintings, and dolls of saints in airport shops and even restaurants with plantation themes. In Performing Afro-Cuba, Kristina Wirtz examines how the animation of Cuba's colonial past and African heritage through such figures and performances not only reflects but also shapes the Cuban experience of Blackness. She also investigates how this process operates at different spatial and temporal scales, from the immediate present to the imagined past, from the barrio to the socialist state. Wirtz analyzes a variety of performances and the ways they construct Cuban racial and historical imaginations. She offers a sophisticated view of performance as enacting diverse revolutionary ideals, religious notions, and racial identity politics, and she outlines how these concepts play out in the ongoing institutionalization of folklore as an official, even state-sponsored category. Employing Bakhtin's concept of chronotopes, the semiotic construction of space-time, she examines the roles of voice, temporality, embodiment, imagery, and memory in the racializing process. The result is a deftly balanced study that marries racial studies performance studies anthropology and semiotics to explore the nature of race as a cultural sign one that is always in process always shifting      Human and Mediated Communication around the World

Marieke de Mooij, 2013-10-07 This book is unique in the sense that it offers a comprehensive review and analysis of human communication and mediated communication around the world This is one of the first attempts to do so in a systematic comprehensive way It challenges the assumption that Western theories of human communication and mass communication have universal applicability It surveys the applicability of mass communication theories to other than Western cultures The book explains the influence of culture on all forms of communication behavior be it personal mediated or mass communication It presents communication theories from around the world incorporating a vast body of literature from Europe Asia Africa and Latin America This updated information on important international perspectives that includes both interpersonal and mediated communication is presently not readily available in other sources The book offers an integrated approach to understanding the working of electronic means of communication that are hybrid media combining human and mediated communication These new media that are often presented as universal are even more culture bound than the traditional media
