Stefan Hoffmann and Payam Akbar address the following topics in their book Consumer Behaviour. They begin with the understanding of the term and briefly outline the theoretical as well as methodological approach to consumer behaviour. They then discuss influences on consumer behaviour which take place first and foremost within us: Motivation, emotion and cognition as well as attitude and decision. They then show that behaviour differs systematically between different consumer groups. For this purpose they consider influences from the social, physical and media environment. At the end of the consumer behavior book they illustrate how buying behavior is embedded in general societal developments and thus constantly changes over time. This second edition of the book has been revised and updated by the authors. Clear textbook for exam preparation with many practical aids. The Consumer Behavior textbook is intended for students in the following disciplines: Business Administration, Psychology, Communications, Related disciplines. It follows a consistent didactic concept as a reader you observe the fictional characters Lea and Ben in numerous consumption situations. In this way you get to know essential theories and models in a lively way and close to everyday life. The following elements also help you to quickly grasp and effectively learn the contents of the textbook: Consumer Behaviour, Case studies, Descriptions of relevant studies, QR codes to video content e.g. videos and websites. This makes this book ideal for reviewing lectures and preparing for exams. At the end of each chapter you will find questions for self monitoring and recommended reading.

Advertising, Promotion, and New Media Marla R. Stafford, Ronald J. Faber, 2015-03-26. Today new media enter our lives faster than ever before. This volume provides a complete state of the art overview of the newest media technologies and how they can be used in marketing communications: essential information for any organization that wants to maintain an effective advertising program as well as for experts and students in the fields of advertising and mass communications. Advertising, Promotion and New Media offers crucial insights on the use of cutting edge techniques including 3D advertising, mobile advertising, advergames, interactivity and netvertising, images as well as more familiar Internet advertising formats such as banner ads and pop ups. It also discusses such important topics as how to select online affiliates and how to assess the effectiveness of new media advertising and compare it with traditional formats. Throughout the book the chapter authors offer up to date information and thought provoking ideas on emerging technology and how it can be used effectively for advertising and promotion in the future.

Advances in Communication Research to Reduce Childhood Obesity Jerome D. Williams, Keryn E. Pasch, Chiquita A. Collins, 2013-02-12. Rates of childhood obesity are alarmingly high and increasing each year. Studies have shown that obese children are more likely to become obese adults and are likely to suffer with numerous health consequences like coronary heart disease, high blood pressure and Type II diabetes among others. Studies also indicate that television viewing and exposure to advertising for food products influences children's attitudes toward food preferences and food purchase requests for foods with low nutritional value. It is important to better understand the role of media in childhood obesity and to learn how media may be used to address this issue in a positive way. This book focuses on communication and media research that can have an impact on reducing childhood obesity. Emphasis is placed on topics related to how the media communicate health related messages about food nutrition and diet that influence childhood obesity. Particular emphasis is on the new media given the fact that media now have more central roles in socializing today's children and youth than ever before. Advertising and marketing messages reach young consumers through a variety of vehicles: broadcast and cable television, radio, magazines, computers, through the Internet, music, cell phones, and in many different venues: homes, schools, child care settings, grocery stores, shopping malls, theaters, sporting events, and even airports. In addition, given the disparity in obesity rates between children of color and the general population, special attention is given to research on media targeting these populations.

Shifting Economic, Financial and Banking Paradigm Samsul Ariffin Abdul Karim, 2021-08-13. This book presents the main ideas on shifting the economy, finance, and banking sectors among ASEAN countries into a new paradigm. Since the economy and finance, as well as the banking sector in the ASEAN region, have been growing year by year, there is the need for the policymakers and relevant agencies to study the ideas on shifting the ASEAN economy, finance, and banking towards globalization through a new paradigm. Furthermore, the recent COVID-19 pandemic has affected not just human lives but also the economic and financial sectors. Because of COVID-19, most countries around the world have imposed lockdown and moving control order (MCO) as well as conditionally moving control order (CMCO). In this book, we tackle the main ideas on shifting the economy, finance, and banking sectors among ASEAN countries into a new paradigm. The researchers used econometric, mathematics, statistics, and quantitative sciences to study many economic, finance, and banking issues such as cryptocurrency, consumer preferences, and good governance. This book presents various new and novel results, methods, and algorithms. The findings of this book shall benefit the ASEAN policymakers, investors, and other relevant agencies. This book is also suitable for postgraduate students, researchers, and other scientists who work in econometric, finance, banking, and numerical simulation.
